Vital corn report prepared in locked room

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 100 people were scheduled to be locked up in a wing of the Agriculture Department's massive South Building early today to prepare in secret, under armed guard, one of the most important crop reports of the year.

Shortly before 3 p.m. EDT, after hours of struggling with production figures for corn, wheat, and other commodities, the report was to be ready. Don Paarlberg, director of economics for USDA, was designated to sign the finished report as a representative of Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz.

After Paarlberg had entered the locked area, even he was not to be allowed to leave, make telephone calls or associate in any way with persons outside the lockup area.

A few minutes before 3 p.m., representatives of the Crop Reporting Board were to carry copies of the secret report to a special "release" room with reporters waiting near a battery of telephone booths — a white line drawn on the floor in front of the booths.

Copies of the completed report were to be placed face down in each telephone booth. At exactly 3 p.m., a board official would give the "go," and newsmen could step across the line to their phones and report what USDA has to say about 1975 crop production.

The most important news in today's report will be how much corn the United States is expected to produce this year. Current projections, based on acreage plantings and normal yields, point to a record corn crop of betwen 5.7 billion and 6.4 billion bushels, compared with a harvest of less than 4.7 billion last year.

At 3 p.m. today the department would have a firmer fix on what prospects are, not only for corn but other major commodities. Exceptions are soybeans and cotton, which will not be estimated for another month.

Today's report is the first on 1975 corn production by USDA based on actual field examinations of the crops involving thousands of inspections, questionnaires and other procedures aimed at getting as accurate a picture as possible of the harvests.

The task will be repeated each month through fall, reflecting changes in crop conditions during the growing season. Drought, for example, can produce radical changes in production estimates over two or three months.

Top security is specified by federal law in the preparation of USDA crop reports. According to the department's Statistical Reporting Service, "if an employe discloses any data or crop information prior to official release, or if he personally engages in trading on the commodity markets, he is subject to a $10,000 fine and 10 years in prison."

Likewise, if an employe issues false information the penalty can be a $5,000 fine and five years in prison.

The crop team was scheduled to begin entering the security area about 5 a.m. By 8:30 a.m. between 75 and 100 persons were to be locked up. Window blinds were closed and sealed. Telephones were disconnected and arrangements were made to have food sent in.

Meanwhile, field reports containing crop data were mailed into USDA in distinctive envelopes. They were immediately placed in a special steel box secured with two separate locks. One key was kept in the office of the secretary of agriculture and the other in the custody of the Crop Reporting Board's chairman.

After the early morning security procedures went into effect, the board chairman and a representative of the secretary, under armed guard, were to open the box and take the reports to designated rooms for analysis.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department officials are preparing a federal quarantine aimed at curbing the spread of hog cholera from an infected herd detected last week in the Texas panhandle.

Officials said Wednesday that the federal quarantine will be announced in a few days and will augment a Texas state quarantine already in effect.

The disease, recently thought to be practically eliminated from swine herds in the United States, was found in a herd of about 170 hogs on a farm owned by Louis Woodford near Hereford, Tex.

Major U.S.-Russian wheat deal possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said today the Russians are negotiating with major U.S. grain exporters for several million tons of grain.

Jackson's statement came after Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said Wednesday that reports of an impending grain deal with the Soviets "may be more than rumors."

Butz told a news conference in Kansas City that intelligence sources indicate that Russia will have to buy American wheat this year.

The Agriculture Department says hot, dry weather in Soviet grainlands is expected to reduce grain harvests to a level about 10 per cent short of Moscow's 1975 goal.

bjackson, chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee, said in a speech prepared for delivery today in the Senate that "some or all" of the grain under negotiation could come from this year's American harvest.

He said the committee staff received confirmation earlier this week from major exporters that they are negotiating with the Soviets.

"We were also told that no major sales have been made to date," Jackson said. He added that this had been confirmed by the Agriculture Department.

The Agriculture Department predicted a Russian harvest of 195 million metric tons of grain this year, nearly 10 per cent below its goal of 215.7 million tons. This would still be almost as large as last year's harvest and the third largest in Russia's history.

But the Kremlin has made a commitment to increase supplies of meat, poultry and other livestock products for consumers. Analysts say this is a major reason for the apparent Soviet willingness to make up shortfalls in their grain production effort by buying foreign grain.

Reports published in London earlier this week said the Russians were in the market for substantial quantities of corn and wheat.

The reports triggered sharp increases on the Chicago Board of Trade and other futures markets. The trend continued Wednesday with wheat, corn, oats and other futures rising sharply n price.

However, Butz said that no American company had reported any grain deal with Russia to his department. Notice is required within 24 hours on sales of 100,000 or more tons upon completion of the deal.

Legislature budget signed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The $7.2 million budget to fund operations of the Missouri Legislature this year was signed today by Gov. Christopher S. Bond without any cutbacks.

"The legislature has provided us with information on how it proposes to spend those funds," Bond told newsmen in explaining why he made no cuts in the bill as he had done a year ago.

In 1974, Bond vetoed more than $1 million from a budget of similar size, claiming it was excessive and that his office had not received any explanation on how the funds would be used.

He suggested, however, that the legislature's explanation of what the money is needed for may not be considered justifiable by the voters.

"I think it's in keeping with their actions throughout the session," said the Republican governor, who has been critical of legislation passed by the Democratic-controlled General Assembly this year.

Group urges revamping employment service

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special public advisory committee has called for a revamping of the U.S. Employment Service into a "streamlined, hard-hitting" organization where the jobless "can have a reasonable expectancy of finding work."

Among its major recommendations, the committee urged that the Employment Service and the Unemployment Insurance Service be separated both physically and organizationally.

"The image of, or public confidence in, the Employment Service is usually damaged by being located in the same building with UIS," the committee said. The public thinks of Employment Service offices not as centers in which to find work but as places to file unemployment insurance claims — "the place of last resort," it said.

The employment agency, part of the Labor Department, tries to find jobs for the unemployed. Persons who go on unemployment are included in its listings of those looking for work. It

No comment on Rice story

BLOOMFIELD — Stoddard County officials today refused to confirm published reports that Carl Wayne Rice, 35, of Dexter, had been fighting with a man who was seated at a table Monday night with Rice's wife, prior to a hit-and-run accident.

Rice has been charged with first degree murder in connection with the hit-and-run death of Mrs. Sharon L. Bond of Sikeston, after he surrendered to authorities about 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Sheriff Ralph Mouser had been quoted as saying Rice had been involved in a brawl early Monday night at a Dexter tavern. The man, according to the sheriff, was riding a motorcycle and had a motorcycle helment with him at the time of the fight.

Mouser, reportedly stated "Then he (Rice) goes out on the highway and runs into a motorcycle".

Mouser could not be reached today for comment and his department refused to confirm or deny the statements.

Lab reports due today in beating death

No new leads were reported today in the investigation of the murder of Mrs. Roberta Johnson, 811 Ruth St.

Detective Lt. Jack Patterson said he hopes the department will have more information later today when evidence and reports are obtained from the crime laboratory in Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. Johnson was found beaten, stabbed, strangled and raped Tuesday morning in a bedroom of her home. An autopsy performed Tuesday showed she died between 7:30 p.m. and midnight Monday.

Police have a lamp and knife believed used in the killing.

Thieves take CB, stereo

A citizens band radio and eight track stereo have been reported stolen in separate thefts, according to police.

The radio, valued at $154 was taken from a car owned by Mike Chafin of Gray Ridge. The theft occurred between 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Tuesday while the car was parked on the west side of Kingsway Plaza Mall.

The tape player, valued at $50 was stolen from a car owned by Jean Cowan, 313 Clements St., Dexter, sometime between June 31 and July 1. The car was parked in the Burger Chef parking lot when the theft occurred.

Burlison seeks applications for service academies

WASHINGTON, D.C.--U.S. Representative Bill D. Burlison of Missouri's Tenth Congressional District announced today that his office has begun accepting applications for nomination to the service academies for the class of 1980, entering in the summer of 1976.

Any American citizen between the ages of 17 and 22, who has never been married, and who is a legal resident of the Tenth Congressional District is eligible to apply. The final date for submitting applications to Burlison's office is Sept. 15.

Burlison stated that he asks all applicants to take the academy required ACT college entrance examination, to submit to a military physical examination, and to appear for an interview with Burlison's Academy Advisory Committee.

The Congressman emphasized, "Any young person who presently has a good achievement record in high school or college, meets the physical requirements, and is sincerely interested in a military career, has a good chance of obtaining one of these highly valued appointments."

AN END TO JUNK ART?

There are encouraging signs that the era of junk art — aptly described by Al Capp as "stuff produced by the untalented and sold by the unscrupulous to the utterly bewildered" — may be nearing an end. the p ebble that may have triggered a national landslide against "contemptuaneous" art was the book, bolstered by a simultaneous article in Harper's Magazine, by Tom Wolfe, entitled "THE PAINTED WORD." In the book and article, Wolfe systematically and effectively slices the "avant-garde" art world into ribbons. And because, as columnist Jenkin Lloyd Jones wrote, "Tom Wolfe's credentials as a student of artistic chic are impressive," shock waves have been transmitted throughout the art world. Museums are, we are told, seriously reexamining their past policies to accept almost any blob on canvas without question.

If, indeed, junk art is on the way out, it won't be an easy or painless transition. For one thing, millions of dollars have been invested in stuff that a self-respecting alley cat would not drag in from the street. In addition, art teachers, and schools, utterly devoid of any talent or taste, have been turning out students equally devoid of genuine ability — except, possibly, the talent to pull the wool over the eyes of a gullible public.

For many years the American Artists' Professional League in New York, representing legitimate, skilled craftsmen, has been waging a battle for coherent art. Hopefully, their day of victory is close at hand, If so, we can expect once m ore to find our art galleries to be things of beauty, and not the insult to esthetic values to which we have been treated for so long a time.

DEGREES OF SUCCESS

A college education may make a substantial difference in lifetime earnings, but it depends more on the individual's background and ability than on the particular college he attends, say two University of Wisconsin sociologists.

Professors Robert M. Hauser and William H. Sewell studied 2,000 Wisconsin males over a 20-year period and found that financial success after college is primarily a product of the student's academic ability and such background factors as family income, parents' education and the student's economic aspirations.

So far as they could determine, the type of college attended contributes only 2.4 per cent to any variation in earnings and is not as important as the type of student who attends it.

"The large differences in earnings from college to college are mostly accounted for by the kinds of students they attract, and not the college environment," they say. "A student with high academic performance and aspirations is likely to do very well wherever he goes to school."

"The CIAs activities today are carried out within the limits of its statutory authority."

JOBS ARE OUT THERE IF YOU'RE WILLING

No matter how hard times get, there are always jobs going begging-for people willing to provide a reliable service and who aren't above part-time work.

"A lot of people simply don't realize that dozens of part-time jobs are available that anyone can do," says the president of a New York employment agency specializing in temporary help.

This and other experts recently consulted by the National Enquirer suggest a number of part-time possibilities, including:

Dog Walker. In some areas a dog walker is paid $15 a week per dog, and he can take as many as seven or eight at a time.

Animal Sitter. Many dog and cat owners going on vacation want to board their pets or have them cared for at home. The pay ranges up to $7 a day per animal.

Outdoor and Indoor Chores. There's always a need for people to mow lawns, wash cars, etc. And with more women working outside the home, there are more opportunities for light household services.

Crowd Control. Local events involving large crowds need ushers, ticket-takers, parking lot attendants.

Sales. Freelance jobs always available for house-to-house sales of vacuum cleaners, magazines or encyclopedias. One major encyclopedia publisher, in fact, has launched a nationwide campaign to recruit 40,000 full or part-time sales representatives by July.

None of these jobs requires an employment agency. Once you've selected a part-time service that interests you, say the experts, advertise in community newspapers and put notices on bulletin boards. Word-of-mouth advertising among relatives and friends is also a good way to start.

HAS REAGAN BEEN ASLEEP PAST DECADE?

Ronald Reagan has not, and may not, toss his hat into the 1976 GOP presidential ring. But if the former governor of California seriously entertains hopes of becoming a future presidents of the United States, he is going to have to stop pouring the same old rhetoric out of the same old bottles if he is to gain the support of more than a fringe fraction of Americans.

Either that, or we are mistaken in the belief that the American people as a whole have consistently demonstrated more perception, more compassion, more plain common sense than their leaders, or those who would lead them.

Reagan came on like Barry Goldwater in 1964 in his remarks at the National Headliners Club annual awards banquet in Washington the other night. The United States, he said, should have sent its B-52s to blunt North Vietnam's thrust into South Vietnam in violation of the Paris peace accords.

The objection is not that the big bombers could not have done the job and South Vietnam once again have been saved. But at what cost? How many bombers would have been shot down, how many new POWs and MIAs have been created?

And to what purpose? The American people long ago realized that they could go on saving South Vietnam indefinitely and that at some time or another the Vietnamese had to be left to sink or swim by their own efforts.

It is dismaying, if not downright frightening, to hear a man of Reagan's political prominence talking as if he had been on another planet for the past 10 years.

The United States should also have acted "in any way to prevent or discourage the (leftist) takeover of Portugal" which threatens our bases in the Azores, said Reagan.

"In any way"? Does that mean economic blackmail? Subversion? Assassination? The B-52s again? Or the way the Soviet Union prevents and discourages her satellites from wandering—by military occupation?

What gives the United States the right to act "in any way" toward another nation (provided it is a much smaller nation, of course) if that nation does not behave the way we think it should?

Americans like to think they are a little bit different from the ideological opponents, that they have something more to offer the world than continual proof that we are the fastest gun in the West.

The United States, Reagan went on, should be "stronger, tougher, more determined to battle the Communists in any area of the world." The free world is crying out for strong American leadership, he said, and we are not providing it.

But why must we be strong and toughh and determined when it comes to North Vietnam, which could never remotely threaten our national security, and be smiling and friendly and cooperative with China and the Soviet Union, at least one of which has the power to obliterate us many times over?

It is not that the American people oppose detente with the two Communist powers. Indeed, this is one of the few accomplishments they have always given Richard Nixon high marks for.

But they cannot see what purpose was served by expending 56,000 lives and $150 billion dollars in the name of stopping "world communism" in Vietnam, only to turn around and sell high technology products to the Russians.

As we said, Ronald Reagan comes on like Barry Goldwater in 1964. If he keeps it up, he's going to go out the same way—and maybe the Republican party with him.

STUDENTS TRAVEL TO WASHINGTON FOR FIRST HAND LOOK AT GOVERNMENT

Washington, D.C. may not be at its best in January, but you would never know it from the enthusiastic responses of twenty high school students who visited there from January 9-15.

"The overall program was a great experience for me," wrote Ramon Garcia of Aurora, Ill., on his return from the nation's capital as part of the General Miss-sponsored "Youth-In-Government" program.

The company has sponsored such a group for the past three years, according to the Modern Millwheel, a General Mills employe magazine. The twenty students who participated this year were chosen by lottery from a group of 300 young applicants, all sons and daughters of General Mills employes.

The Washington program is conducted by CLOSE UP, an educational organization which believes that an intensive, objective and rigorous examination of government in Washington is necessary to achieve a meaningful degree of understanding.

Rigorous is a good word to describe the week's schedule. One day's agenda included a seminar with a member of the President's staff, a tour of Washington, meetings with representatives of the Republican and Democratic Naticnal Committees, and a seminar with members of the Washington press corps.

Much time was spent learning about formulation, legislation, adjudiciation and implementation of policy, and several evenings were devoted to workshop sessions.

But it wasn't all work. The young people also attended events at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts and Ford's Theatre.

All in all, wrote participant Don Ruhl, it was "the most interesting and informative program I have ever been a part of."

TOP PRODUCING NATION

Congressman Robert Michel of Illinois, speaking before a meeting of retail food distributors, advised food retailers to, "....Let consumers know what the food industry is doing to help them--stores in operation for 24-hours seven days a week, convenience packaging, and your effort to hold down rising food costs..:You must....Tell housewives the facts of life about your business!...You also need to support the free enterprise system by preaching its validity and value to the nation. We are a great producing nation and the profits of business stimulate that production. This needs to be your educational message."

Much of the stress between consumers and retail distributors has been due to a lack of understanding on the part of consumers of the way mass retail distribution works in a competitive free market. How many consumers are familiar with the cardinal principle of mass distribution--the movement of a high volume of goods at minimum prices? This principle applies to every line of retailing. The point the public must now understand and keep in mind is that inflation in no way changes the principle of the mass-merchandising system prevailing in the United States. Stores continue to operate on tissue-thin profit margins. The compelling urge to maintain high-volume sales and rock-bottom prices automatically places today's merchants in the psition of fighting the rising costs of inflation with every resource at their command.

No arbitrary government restrictions on the marketplace can begin to compare in effectiveness with the inflation-resisting characteristics of mass distribution in a free market. As the Illinois congressman emphasized, "....We are a great producing nation....", and we got that way not only because of the right to make a profit but because of the business philosophy that developed mass production and high-volume mass distribution.

Barry, the campus Romeo, had been caught in the girls' dorm after curfew. The next morning he was summoned to the dean's office for disciplinary action. "Young man," the dean scolded, "I'm fining you ten dollars for your misconduct. And if this happens again, the fine will be twenty dollars. Is that clear?"

"Yes, sir," Barry replied, "but I have just one question."

"What is it?" the dean asked.

"How much would a season ticket cost?"

The main test of news is whether or not it is out of the ordinary. Unfortunately most of the stories being printed these days are no longer surprising to anyone. In the dog days of summer, people wonder why the papers spend so much time on multinational company corruption, CIA wrongdoing, government wiretapping and congressional foot- dragging, since none of these events is news any more.

These are the stories that would be news if they ever happened.

WASHINGTON - Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger said today that the Soviets were dismantling missiles and there was no longer any reason for the United States to build new weapons systems. "The Pentagon has enough money for everything it needs and we are asking Congress to withhold any supplemental funds as it would only be a waste of money."

LOS ANGELES, Calif. - Northrop Aviation announced a new contract with Saudi Arabia for the delivery of 100 F-5 fighter planes. Company officials said the Saudi Arabian military chose Northrup because it was the only company who did not try to bribe them with under-the- table "commissions." A Saudi Arabian minister said, "Accepting bribes is against the Koran, and no self- respecting Arab minister would ask for a gratuity in exchange for a military hardware contract."

HOUSTON, Tex.- The American Petroleum Institute turned down an offer by the U.S. government to deregulate petroleum and gas. A spokesman said, "Most of our members are making tremendous profits as it is, and it would be unfair to the American people to take advantage of the energy crisis at this time. We believe the economic health of the country comes first and, while we appreciate the government's concern that oil prices are too low, we'd rather see that there is enough fuel for everybody at prices the average person can afford."

MOBILE, Ala. - Gov. George Wallace told a group of foreign newspapermen that in his opinion the United States did the right thing when they fought the Germans and Japanese in World War II. "We had no choice," the governor said, "and I would hate to think what the world would be like today if Hitler and Tojo had won. Of course, we couldn't have done it alone. Thank God, the Russians were on our side."

WASHINGTON - Sen. Teddy Kennedy said today that he is a candidate for President in 1976. "All this talk about me not running is pure foolishness. The Democratic Party has a lot of good men, but I can't see myself supporting any of them. I'm the best man for the job, and I wish the press would stop saying I'm not interested in the Presidency as it's hurting my fund-raising campaign."

NEW YORK CITY - Mayor Abe Beame called a press conference today to announce that New York City has a surplus of $2 billion." I intend to use the money to beef up the police force and fire department as well as add extra days for garbage collection. I also intend to pay off the city's debt. I want New York to become the model for the rest of the country. Thanks to understanding municipal unions, this city has a balanced budget."

CAMBODIA - Cambodian naval units seized an American freighter in international waters last night. When informed of this at four in the morning, President Ford said, "So what? We have plenty of other ships and don't really need it. Don't wake me up again!"

WASHINGTON - Henry Kissinger told a press conference today that most of the mistakes made in foreign policy over the past six years were his fault. After detailing where he had gone wrong, he said, "I guess I'm not a very good secretary of state after all."

Kissinger Can Help: How Jittery Mafia Could Be Smashed

NEW YORK--It may surprise Henry Kissinger to learn that with just a few animated transatlantic phone calls he can help smash the Mafia which sucks some $50 billion a year out of America's high economy. All Secretary Kissinger need do is direct his State Department to put as much heat on Rome as it is pouring on Israel.

The Italian government, for some time now, has been refusing to permit our Immigration and Naturalization Service to deport to Italy the illegal alien known as boss of bosses Don Carlo Gambino. This 72-year-old reputedly most powerful Mafia chief was born in Italy on August 24, 1902. After long hearings, papers for his deportation were issued. Rome has stalled accepting the return of this local boy who made good by organizing one of the century's toughest of Mafia "families."

It deals in "items" which load the public with an annual multi-billion-dollar terror tax--fish, wholesale meats, rendering, butchers, produce, alcohol, narcotics, Wall Street investments, garments (musical records) and unions just to mention a few.

Gambino has for years claimed a bad heart. Some weeks ago he was admitted to the Victory Memorial hospital over in Brooklyn. Lots of examinations, change of medicines, no reason found for chest pains. Now home again as don of dons again.

Yet if he is shipped back to Italy instead of being permitted to do his ghoulish business as usual, his "family" cracks--and with it much of the underworld "organization" across the U.S.

But everybody now is fascinated, even hypnotized, by the saga of Chicago's Sam Giancana's biting the bullet. Right in the mouth and out again. Courtesy of the so-called Tony Accardo combine. Lots of amateurs and ambitious politicos are still trying to link this mob rub-out with the CIA. That's silly. Giancana died because he was getting too much publicity. Just like the human vegetable Joe Colombo still living with a bullet in the brain. This mob rub-out isn't a case of young turks vs. old turks, exactly.

This is a case of Mafia jitters. The FBI and one or two Justice Department coordinated anti-organized crime strike forces--especially young Bill Aronwald's Manhattan operation here--have succeeded in knocking off many of the Mafia's top leaders. That's the technique, rather than jailing hundreds of small-time button men.

So the Chicago mob decided, according to excellent sources, to have Salvatore (Giancana) depart this world. He was attracting too much attention. He was becoming too big a prize for some prosecutor. Getting to him would mean the grand juries would have to climb on the backs of several echelons of Chicago's crime combine. So, just as Joe Colombo was shot at the height of a Columbus Circle mass rally he was running here some years ago, Salvatore went. Further, Giancana was Chicago mob boss in 1960. too many ties with old politicians reaching away up and up. And believe me, up.

So there's little attention being paid to the anti-Mafia war waged by dedicated FBI agents under New York's FBI director J. Wallace Laprade and Aronwald and other mob-smashers here.

Don Carlo has actually become the first Mr. Big in decades. Friend Salvatore is dead. New England's reputed underworld chief Ray Patriarca is truly moaning low through his prison pallor. Southern Mafia bosses are minding their own business--well wired for sound. Friend Meyer Lansky, now in an apartment on Miami Beach's Collins Ave., is trying to live it out quietly.

Little is left of the national commission--the Mafia's once all-powerful chief executioners' high command. Their communications are disrupted. Thus Don Carlo's family dominates much of the take, territory and decisions. This crime capital's other Mafia families are in a desperate way organizationally. So Don Carlo's crews have become a prime FBI strike-force target. And the fight's going well. First Aronwald, with IRS help, put away the don's second in command--very tough 61-year-old Aniello Dellacroce. Five years in the federal pen at Atlanta. This left, according to top sources, next in command Paul (Big Paul) Castellano, 54, graying, very rich, very powerful. Big Paul is Gambino's first cousin and brother-in-law. Well trusted.

But last week, Aronwald and company got Bit Paul and a relative, Little Paul Castellano and seven others indicted on heavy shylocking charges. If convicted they could go to prison for a long time. Big Paul's out on bail, but nonetheless he now is fairly well cut away from real active duty.

Thus Gambino's two (out of three) possible successors are out--and this means that the old Sicilian traditionalists from away back are handicapped because Big Paul was their man. And the assimilated troops, the Americanized types, are hampered because Dellacroce was their spokesman.

This leaves, according to the federal authorities, a very much "respected," feared and powerful third-in-line, Joe N. Gallo (the initial is to distinguish him from the murdered Crazy Joe). Joe N. has wide contacts. Was a courier between New York, Baltimore and Florida. But Joe N. now is under careful surveillance. All that holds the top together therefore is the aging Don Carlo Gambino. He could be so comfortable in the Italian sun

--like Lucky Luciano and Joe Doto, alias Joe Adonis, both dead now but once two of America's top labor-relations men (New York and Detroit).

So, since it's an external matter, Dr. Kissinger could legally put the heat on Rome to take back its prodigy and give the American public a chance to recover.

Foul Weather Unfair with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON – We broke the astonishing news on March 18, 1971, that Air Force rainmakers had succeeded in turning the weather against the North Vietnamese.

We cited secret reports which "claimed success in creating manmade cloudbursts over the Ho Chi Minh trail complex." This "caused flooding conditions along the trails," we wrote, "making them impassable" and hampering the movement of military supplies.

This has now led to a Soviet-American agreement, soon to be announced, outlawing certain forms of environmental warfare. The details are still being hammered out, but both nations will pledge not to produce earthquakes, hurricanes and the like as weapons of war.

In the back rooms, the U.S. negotiators have acknowledged that our story was correct and that the weather makers produced cloudbursts over the trails.

They doubt, however, that the seeding operations had a major impact on the weather. They believe it was merely a coincidence that North Vietnam in November, 1971, was lashed by the worst storms in four decades. Floods washed out roads, destroyed villages and caused more damage than four years of U.S. bombing.

But these storms, the experts insist, were produced by natural causes.

SPORTS SCANDAL' The Securities and Exchange Commission is investigating a million-dollar controversy involving more than 100 of the nation's top professional athletes.

The inquiry was touched off by a lawsuit against Professional Sports Advisors, Inc., which represents a host of sports all-stars.

The suit was brought by three athletes -- football star Otis Armstrong of the Denver Broncos and basketball stars Ralph Simpson and Mike Green of the Denver Nuggets -- who claimed they had been bilked by a clever combination of land deals and tax frauds.

An attorney for PSA called the allegations "all lies" and pointed out that much of the suit has been dismissed. He contended that the litigation is part of a harassment campaign against his client by an unnamed rival organization.

The SEC, nevertheless, is checking into the land deals to determine whether any federal securities laws were violated.

The dismissed portion of the suit, filed in Cleveland federal court, alleged that $1.2 million was collected from about 100 athletes and invested in a phony land scheme.

The list of investors reads like the starting line-up for an All-Star game.

In football, the firm represents such stars as Charlie Taylor and Ken Houston of the Washington Redskins, Mercury Morris and Larry Little of the Miami Dolphins and Terry Metcalf of the St. Louis Cardinals. Plaintiff Otis Armstrong led the American Football Conference in rushing last year.

In baseball,, the client list includes Bobby Darwin of the Minnesota Twins, Greg Luzinski of the Philadelphia Phillies, Luis Tiant of the Boston Red Sox and Sandy Alomar and Elliot Maddox of the New York Yankees.

Footnote: The PSA attorney said he wanted to get into some "heavy discovery" to find out who was behind the "false charges," which he repeated were "instigated by others than the plaintiffs to discredit (PSA)." The SEC and the plaintiffs' attorney declined comment.

UNDERWORLD WHISPERS: Just before Senate investigators were about to question Sam Giancana about his role in the assassination plot against Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, the Chicago racketeer was shot to death with a .22 pistol.

The word has been whispered around the underworld, according to our sources who have been reliable in the past, that Giancana was shot by a former girl friend he had abused.

Our sources say Giancana was a sadist and masochist who got his kicks inflicting pain upon his girl friends and having them abuse him in return. One of his favorite perversions reportedly was to hook up a hose and use water tortures.

He went too far, according to the underworld report, and hurt a girl friend who swore revenge and came after him with a .22. Justice Department sources acknowledge that Giancana had strange sex habits and that a .22 is a woman's weapon. But they are skeptical of the underworld story.

To avoid any misunderstanding, it should be added that Giancana's most celebrated girl friend, singer Phyllis McGuire, was overseas the day the mobster was killed.

Footnote: We reported in January, 1971, that the Central Intelligence Agency had recruited mobsters John Roselli and Sam Giancana to assassinate Castro. Giancana had knowledge of the plot but didn't directly particpate in it, except possibly to recommend a Cuban contact, we reported. This has now been confirmed in secret Senate testimony.

AN END TO JUNK ART?

There are encouraging signs that the era of junk art — aptly described by Al Capp as "stuff produced by the untalented and sold by the unscrupulous to the utterly bewildered" — may be nearing an end. the p ebble that may have triggered a national landslide against "contemptuaneous" art was the book, bolstered by a simultaneous article in Harper's Magazine, by Tom Wolfe, entitled "THE PAINTED WORD." In the book and article, Wolfe systematically and effectively slices the "avant-garde" art world into ribbons. And because, as columnist Jenkin Lloyd Jones wrote, "Tom Wolfe's credentials as a student of artistic chic are impressive," shock waves have been transmitted throughout the art world. Museums are, we are told, seriously reexamining their past policies to accept almost any blob on canvas without question.

If, indeed, junk art is on the way out, it won't be an easy or painless transition. For one thing, millions of dollars have been invested in stuff that a self-respecting alley cat would not drag in from the street. In addition, art teachers, and schools, utterly devoid of any talent or taste, have been turning out students equally devoid of genuine ability — except, possibly, the talent to pull the wool over the eyes of a gullible public.

For many years the American Artists' Professional League in New York, representing legitimate, skilled craftsmen, has been waging a battle for coherent art. Hopefully, their day of victory is close at hand, If so, we can expect once m ore to find our art galleries to be things of beauty, and not the insult to esthetic values to which we have been treated for so long a time.

DEGREES OF SUCCESS

A college education may make a substantial difference in lifetime earnings, but it depends more on the individual's background and ability than on the particular college he attends, say two University of Wisconsin sociologists.

Professors Robert M. Hauser and William H. Sewell studied 2,000 Wisconsin males over a 20-year period and found that financial success after college is primarily a product of the student's academic ability and such background factors as family income, parents' education and the student's economic aspirations.

So far as they could determine, the type of college attended contributes only 2.4 per cent to any variation in earnings and is not as important as the type of student who attends it.

"The large differences in earnings from college to college are mostly accounted for by the kinds of students they attract, and not the college environment," they say. "A student with high academic performance and aspirations is likely to do very well wherever he goes to school."

JOBS ARE OUT THERE IF YOU'RE WILLING

No matter how hard times get, there are always jobs going begging-for people willing to provide a reliable service and who aren't above part-time work.

"A lot of people simply don't realize that dozens of part-time jobs are available that anyone can do," says the president of a New York employment agency specializing in temporary help.

This and other experts recently consulted by the National Enquirer suggest a number of part-time possibilities, including:

Dog Walker. In some areas a dog walker is paid $15 a week per dog, and he can take as many as seven or eight at a time.

Animal Sitter. Many dog and cat owners going on vacation want to board their pets or have them cared for at home. The pay ranges up to $7 a day per animal.

Outdoor and Indoor Chores. There's always a need for people to mow lawns, wash cars, etc. And with more women working outside the home, there are more opportunities for light household services.

Crowd Control. Local events involving large crowds need ushers, ticket-takers, parking lot attendants.

Sales. Freelance jobs always available for house-to-house sales of vacuum cleaners, magazines or encyclopedias. One major encyclopedia publisher, in fact, has launched a nationwide campaign to recruit 40,000 full or part-time sales representatives by July.

None of these jobs requires an employment agency. Once you've selected a part-time service that interests you, say the experts, advertise in community newspapers and put notices on bulletin boards. Word-of-mouth advertising among relatives and friends is also a good way to start.

Ronald Reagan has not, and may not, toss his hat into the 1976 GOP presidential ring. But if the former governor of California seriously entertains hopes of becoming a future presidents of the United States, he is going to have to stop pouring the same old rhetoric out of the same old bottles if he is to gain the support of more than a fringe fraction of Americans.

Either that, or we are mistaken in the belief that the American people as a whole have consistently demonstrated more perception, more compassion, more plain common sense than their leaders, or those who would lead them.

Reagan came on like Barry Goldwater in 1964 in his remarks at the National Headliners Club annual awards banquet in Washington the other night. The United States, he said, should have sent its B-52s to blunt North Vietnam's thrust into South Vietnam in violation of the Paris peace accords.

The objection is not that the big bombers could not have done the job and South Vietnam once again have been saved. But at what cost? How many bombers would have been shot down, how many new POWs and MIAs have been created?

And to what purpose? The American people long ago realized that they could go on saving South Vietnam indefinitely and that at some time or another the Vietnamese had to be left to sink or swim by their own efforts.

It is dismaying, if not downright frightening, to hear a man of Reagan's political prominence talking as if he had been on another planet for the past 10 years.

The United States should also have acted "in any way to prevent or discourage the (leftist) takeover of Portugal" which threatens our bases in the Azores, said Reagan.

"In any way"? Does that mean economic blackmail? Subversion? Assassination? The B-52s again? Or the way the Soviet Union prevents and discourages her satellites from wandering—by military occupation?

What gives the United States the right to act "in any way" toward another nation (provided it is a much smaller nation, of course) if that nation does not behave the way we think it should?

Americans like to think they are a little bit different from the ideological opponents, that they have something more to offer the world than continual proof that we are the fastest gun in the West.

The United States, Reagan went on, should be "stronger, tougher, more determined to battle the Communists in any area of the world." The free world is crying out for strong American leadership, he said, and we are not providing it.

But why must we be strong and toughh and determined when it comes to North Vietnam, which could never remotely threaten our national security, and be smiling and friendly and cooperative with China and the Soviet Union, at least one of which has the power to obliterate us many times over?

It is not that the American people oppose detente with the two Communist powers. Indeed, this is one of the few accomplishments they have always given Richard Nixon high marks for.

But they cannot see what purpose was served by expending 56,000 lives and $150 billion dollars in the name of stopping "world communism" in Vietnam, only to turn around and sell high technology products to the Russians.

As we said, Ronald Reagan comes on like Barry Goldwater in 1964. If he keeps it up, he's going to go out the same way—and maybe the Republican party with him.

Two drinking buddies were boozing up a storm at McNally's Pub. After they were good and sloshed, one said to the other. "Joe, what makes you keep on this rotgut?"

"Booze killed my ma," answered his pal, "and booze killed my pa. I'm drinking for revenge.

STUDENTS TRAVEL TO WASHINGTON FOR FIRST HAND LOOK AT GOVERNMENT

Washington, D.C. may not be at its best in January, but you would never know it from the enthusiastic responses of twenty high school students who visited there from January 9-15.

"The overall program was a great experience for me," wrote Ramon Garcia of Aurora, Ill., on his return from the nation's capital as part of the General Miss-sponsored "Youth-In-Government" program.

The company has sponsored such a group for the past three years, according to the Modern Millwheel, a General Mills employe magazine. The twenty students who participated this year were chosen by lottery from a group of 300 young applicants, all sons and daughters of General Mills employes.

The Washington program is conducted by CLOSE UP, an educational organization which believes that an intensive, objective and rigorous examination of government in Washington is necessary to achieve a meaningful degree of understanding.

Rigorous is a good word to describe the week's schedule. One day's agenda included a seminar with a member of the President's staff, a tour of Washington, meetings with representatives of the Republican and Democratic Naticnal Committees, and a seminar with members of the Washington press corps.

Much time was spent learning about formulation, legislation, adjudiciation and implementation of policy, and several evenings were devoted to workshop sessions.

But it wasn't all work. The young people also attended events at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts and Ford's Theatre.

All in all, wrote participant Don Ruhl, it was "the most interesting and informative program I have ever been a part of."

TOP PRODUCING NATION

Congressman Robert Michel of Illinois, speaking before a meeting of retail food distributors, advised food retailers to, "....Let consumers know what the food industry is doing to help them--stores in operation for 24-hours seven days a week, convenience packaging, and your effort to hold down rising food costs...You must....Tell housewives the facts of life about your business!...You also need to support the free enterprise system by preaching its validity and value to the nation. We are a great producing nation and the profits of business stimulate that production. This needs to be your educational message."

Much of the stress between consumers and retail distributors has been due to a lack of understanding on the part of consumers of the way mass retail distribution works in a competitive free market. How many consumers are familiar with the cardinal principle of mass distribution--the movement of a high volume of goods at minimum prices? This principle applies to every line of retailing. The point the public must now understand and keep in mind is that inflation in no way changes the principle of the mass-merchandising system prevailing in the United States. Stores continue to operate on tissue-thin profit margins. The compelling urge to maintain high-volume sales and rock-bottom prices automatically places today's merchants in the psition of fighting the rising costs of inflation with every resource at their command.

No arbitrary government restrictions on the marketplace can begin to compare in effectiveness with the inflation-resisting characteristics of mass distribution in a free market. As the Illinois congressman emphasized, "....We are a great producing nation....", and we got that way not only because of the right to make a profit but because of the business philosophy that developed mass production and high-volume mass distribution.

Barry, the campus Romeo, had been caught in the girls' dorm after curfew. The next morning he was summoned to the dean's office for disciplinary action. "Young man," the dean scolded, "I'm fining you ten dollars for your misconduct. And if this happens again, the fine will be twenty dollars. Is that clear?"

"Yes, sir," Barry replied, "but I have just one question."

"What is it?" the dean asked.

"How much would a season ticket cost?"

Kissinger Can Help:
How Jittery Mafia
Could Be Smashed

NEW YORK–It may surprise Henry Kissinger to learn that with just a few animated transatlantic phone calls he can help smash the Mafia which sucks some $50 billion a year out of America's high economy. All Secretary Kissinger need do is direct his State Department to put as much heat on Rome as it is pouring on Israel.

The Italian government, for some time now, has been refusing to permit our Immigration and Naturalization Service to deport to Italy the illegal alien known as boss of bosses Don Carlo Gambino. This 72-year-old reputedly most powerful Mafia chief was born in Italy on August 24, 1902. After long hearings, papers for his deportation were issued. Rome has stalled accepting the return of this local boy who made good by organizing one of the century's toughest of Mafia "families."

It deals in "items" which load the public with an annual multi-billion-dollar terror tax--fish, wholesale meats, rendering, butchers, produce, alcohol, narcotics, Wall Street investments, garments (musical records) and unions just to mention a few.

Gambino has for years claimed a bad heart. Some weeks ago he was admitted to the Victory Memorial hospital over in Brooklyn. Lots of examinations, change of medicines, no reason found for chest pains. Now home again as don of dons again.

Yet if he is shipped back to Italy instead of being permitted to do his ghoulish business as usual, his "family" cracks--and with it much of the underworld "organization" across the U.S.

But everybody now is fascinated, even hypnotized, by the saga of Chicago's Sam Giancana's biting the bullet. Right in the mouth and out again. Courtesy of the so-called Tony Accardo combine. Lots of amateurs and ambitious politicos are still trying to link this mob rub-out with the CIA. That's silly. Giancana died because he was getting too much publicity. Just like the human vegetable Joe Colombo still living with a bullet in the brain. This mob rub-out isn't a case of young turks vs. old turks, exactly.

This is a case of Mafia jitters. The FBI and one or two Justice Department coordinated anti-organized crime strike forces--especially young Bill Aronwald's Manhattan operation here--have succeeded in knocking off many of the Mafia's top leaders. That's the technique, rather than jailing hundreds of small-time button men.

So the Chicago mob decided, according to excellent sources, to have Salvatore (Giancana) depart this world. He was attracting too much attention. He was becoming too big a prize for some prosecutor. Getting to him would mean the grand juries would have to climb on the backs of several echelons of Chicago's crime combine. So, just as Joe Colombo was shot at the height of a Columbus Circle mass rally he was running here some years ago, Salvatore went. Further, Giancana was Chicago mob boss in 1960. too many ties with old politicians reaching away up and up. And believe me, up.

So there's little attention being paid to the anti-Mafia war waged by dedicated FBI agents under New York's FBI director J. Wallace Laprade and Aronwald and other mob-smashers here.

Don Carlo has actually become the first Mr. Big in decades. Friend Salvatore is dead. New England's reputed underworld chief Ray Patriarca is truly moaning low through his prison pallor. Southern Mafia bosses are minding their own business--well wired for sound. Friend Meyer Lansky, now in an apartment on Miami Beach's Collins Ave., is trying to live it out quietly.

Little is left of the national commission--the Mafia's once all-powerful chief executioners' high command. Their communications are disrupted. Thus Don Carlo's family dominates much of the take, territory and decisions. This crime capital's other Mafia families are in a desperate way organizationally. So Don Carlo's crews have become a prime FBI strike-force target. And the fight's going well. First Aronwald, with IRS help, put away the don's second in command--very tough 61-year-old Aniello Dellacroce. Five years in the federal pen at Atlanta. This left, according to top sources, next in command Paul (Big Paul) Castellano, 54, graying, very rich, very powerful. Big Paul is Gambino's first cousin and brother-in-law. Well trusted.

But last week, Aronwald and company got Bit Paul and a relative, Little Paul Castellano and seven others indicted on heavy shylocking charges. If convicted they could go to prison for a long time. Big Paul's out on bail, but nonetheless he now is fairly well cut away from real active duty.

Thus Gambino's two (out of three) possible successors are out--and this means that the old Sicilian traditionalists from away back are handicapped because Big Paul was their man. And the assimilated troops, the Americanized types, are hampered because Dellacroce was their spokesman.

This leaves according to the federal authorities, a very much "respected," feared and powerful third-in-line, Joe N. Gallo (the initial is to distinguish him from the murdered Crazy Joe). Joe N. has wide contacts. Was a courier between New York, Baltimore and Florida. But Joe N. now is under careful surveillance. All that holds the top together therefore is the aging Don Carlo Gambino. He could be so comfortable in the Italian sun

--like Lucky Luciano and Joe Doto, alias Joe Adonis, both dead now but once two of America's top labor-relations men (New York and Detroit).

So, since it's an external matter, Dr. Kissinger could legally put the heat on Rome to take back its prodigy and give the American public a chance to recover.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Foul Weather Unfair with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON – We broke the astonishing news on March 18, 1971, that Air Force rainmakers had succeeded in turning the weather against the North Vietnamese.

We cited secret reports which "claimed success in creating manmade cloudbursts over the Ho Chi Minh trail complex." This "caused flooding conditions along the trails," we wrote, "making them impassable" and hampering the movement of military supplies.

This has now led to a Soviet-American agreement, soon to be announced, outlawing certain forms of environmental warfare. The details are still being hammered out, but both nations will pledge not to produce earthquakes, hurricanes and the like as weapons of war.

In the back rooms, the U.S. negotiators have acknowledged that our story was correct and that the weather makers produced cloudbursts over the trails.

They doubt, however, that the seeding operations had a major impact on the weather. They believe it was merely a coincidence that North Vietnam in November, 1971, was lashed by the worst storms in four decades. Floods washed out roads, destroyed villages and caused more damage than four years of U.S. bombing.

But these storms, the experts insist, were produced by natural causes.

SPORTS SCANDAL' The Securities and Exchange Commission is investigating a million-dollar controversy involving more than 100 of the nation's top professional athletes.

The inquiry was touched off by a lawsuit against Professional Sports Advisors, Inc., which represents a host of sports all-stars.

The suit was brought by three athletes -- football star Otis Armstrong of the Denver Broncos and basketball stars Ralph Simpson and Mike Green of the Denver Nuggets -- who claimed they had been bilked by a clever combination of land deals and tax frauds.

An attorney for PSA called the allegations "all lies" and pointed out that much of the suit has been dismissed. He contended that the litigation is part of a harassment campaign against his client by an unnamed rival organization.

The SEC, nevertheless, is checking into the land deals to determine whether any federal securities laws were violated.

The dismissed portion of the suit, filed in Cleveland federal court, alleged that $1.2 million was collected from about 100 athletes and invested in a phony land scheme.

The list of investors reads like the starting line-up for an All-Star game.

In football, the firm represents such stars as Charlie Taylor and Ken Houston of the Washington Redskins, Mercury Morris and Larry Little of the Miami Dolphins and Terry Metcalf of the St. Louis Cardinals. Plaintiff Otis Armstrong led the American Football Conference in rushing last year.

In baseball,, the client list includes Bobby Darwin of the Minnesota Twins, Greg Luzinski of the Philadelphia Phillies, Luis Tiant of the Boston Red Sox and Sandy Alomar and Elliot Maddox of the New York Yankees.

Footnote: The PSA attorney said he wanted to get into some "heavy discovery" to find out who was behind the "false charges," which he repeated were "instigated by others than the plaintiffs to discredit (PSA)." The SEC and the plaintiffs' attorney declined comment.

UNDERWORLD WHISPERS: Just before Senate investigators were about to question Sam Giancana about his role in the assassination plot against Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, the Chicago racketeer was shot to death with a .22 pistol.

The word has been whispered around the underworld, according to our sources who have been reliable in the past, that Giancana was shot by a former girl friend he had abused.

Our sources say Giancana was a sadist and masochist who got his kicks inflicting pain upon his girl friends and having them abuse him in return. One of his favorite perversions reportedly was to hook up a hose and use water tortures.

He went too far, according to the underworld report, and hurt a girl friend who swore revenge and came after him with a .22. Justice Department sources acknowledge that Giancana had strange sex habits and that a .22 is a woman's weapon. But they are skeptical of the underworld story.

To avoid any misunderstanding, it should be added that Giancana's most celebrated girl friend, singer Phyllis McGuire, was overseas the day the mobster was killed.

Footnote: We reported in January, 1971, that the Central Intelligence Agency had recruited mobsters John Roselli and Sam Giancana to assassinate Castro. Giancana had knowledge of the plot but didn't directly particpate in it, except possibly to recommend a Cuban contact, we reported. This has now been confirmed in secret Senate testimony.

World news

NEW YORK (AP) — Peter Davis, director of the Oscar-winning film "Hearts and Minds," has filed an $11-million damage action against two taxi fleet owners in connection with the death of his wife.
His wife, writer Johanna Mankiewicz Davis, daughter of film producer Joseph Mankiewicz, was walking on a sidewalk in Greenwich Village last July when two taxicabs collided and crushed her to death against a mailbox.
Davis filed suit in State Supreme Court Tuesday against taxi fleet owners George Edelstein and Murray Rosensweig. He claimed they operate 200 taxicabs and have "formed individual corporations for each cab to avoid anyone from being able to recover the full amount of damages."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's campaign managers hope to spend the full $10 million permitted by law in his campaign for the 1976 Republican nomination, an informed source said today. Ford campaign officials said after Ford's formal announcement of candidacy Tuesday that the spending limits in the new federal campaign law mean the President Ford Committee will have about 50 to 55 employes. By contrast, President Richard M. Nixon's 1972 campaign committee had more than 200 employes.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is setting out on a four-day visit to Europe designed to promote a Sinai settlement between Israel and Egypt and to spur nuclear weapons negotiations with the Soviet Union. Kissinger will discuss both subjects with Soviet Foreign Minister Andre A. Gromyko in Geneva on Thursday and Friday after stopping tonight in Paris for talks with French officials on the currently stymied dialog between oil consumers and producers.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two congressional overseers of the CIA were told in 1973 about the agency's own findings of improper activities within the intelligence organization, according to newly released CIA documents. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Rep. Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., were given "a detailed, page-by-page review" of the data collected during the CIA's own probe, a memo by CIA Director William E. Colby said. The memo, dated Aug. 29, 1973, is part of the CIA's own accounting to President Ford, which was delivered to Ford last December and made public late Tuesday night.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is providing live entertainment for tourists while they wait, sometimes for two or three hours, to see some of the capital's monuments.

NEW YORK (AP) — Peter Davis, director of the Oscar-winning film "Hearts and Minds," has filed an $11-million damage action against two taxi fleet owners in connection with the death of his wife.
His wife, writer Johanna Mankiewicz Davis, daughter of film producer Joseph Mankiewicz, was walking on a sidewalk in Greenwich Village last July when two taxicabs collided and crushed her to death against a mailbox.
Davis filed suit in State Supreme Court Tuesday against taxi fleet owners George Edelstein and Murray Rosensweig. He claimed they operate 200 taxicabs and have "formed individual corporations for each cab to avoid anyone from being able to recover the full amount of damages."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's campaign managers hope to spend the full $10 million permitted by law in his campaign for the 1976 Republican nomination, an informed source said today. Ford campaign officials said after Ford's formal announcement of candidacy Tuesday that the spending limits in the new federal campaign law mean the President Ford Committee will have about 50 to 55 employes. By contrast, President Richard M. Nixon's 1972 campaign committee had more than 200 employes.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is setting out on a four-day visit to Europe designed to promote a Sinai settlement between Israel and Egypt and to spur nuclear weapons negotiations with the Soviet Union. "more spice than everything nice"

Book explores railroad building era in Britain

"The World From Rough Stones" by Malcolm MacDonald uses Queen Victoria's England as the setting for a rich, colorful saga of railroads, and the man who built them. "Lord" Jim Stevenson, a railroad baron, found in the orphan girl, Nora, an ambition and passion for life to match his own.

New books at the Sikeston Public Library include fiction: "My Lady Benbrook,", by Constance Gluyas; "The Cawthorn Journals," by Stephen Marlow; "The Dream and the Destiny", by Alexander Cordell; "Shotgun", (two volumes) by James Clavell; and "Norma Jean the Termite Queen", by Sheila Ballantyne.

Non-fiction:

"Make Your Garden New Again," by Stanley Schuler; "Complete Book of Championship Tennis Drills," by Bill Murphy; "The Case Against College," by Caroline Bird; "The World of Entertainment", by Hugh Fordin' "Sylvia Porter's Money Book", by Sylvia Porter; and "The Loney Hunter", (biography of Carson McCullers) by Virginia Carr

Ann Landers

Husband is bedtime alcoholic

Dear Ann Landers: I'm sure my husband is an alcoholic but he denies it. The man can drink half a fifth every night after supper. According to him it's better than sleeping pills. (He has had insomnia for several years and the doctor suggested a glass of wine or whisky at bedtime.)

I say anyone who drinks that much booze every night of his life is an alcoholic. After two drinks he gets mean, starts fights and makes long-distance telephone calls to people all over the country. When the bills come in he wants to know who made the calls. He doesn't even remember speaking to these people, much less what he said.

Please, Ann, give me a definition of an alcoholic. I need to know whether I'm right or wrong. -- Tough Sledding

Derr Tough: One of the best definitions of an alcoholic was written by Dr. Will Menninger many years ago. Here it is: "Alcoholism is a character disorder marked by repeated excessive drinking to such a degree that the individual's own efficiency or happiness is severely impaired and the relationships in his family, in his business and with his friends are jeopardized."

Here's an added statement by Ann Landers:

I know of no single element in our society that has wrecked more careers, ruined more marriages and destroyed more healthy bodies than booze.

Dear Ann Landers: Since your column has so many grim and heart-rending letters I thought you might enjoy something on the light side for a change. This was prompted by the letter from the woman who wrote and suggested a better name than "just a housewife." She came up with "Domestic Engineer."

When I visited England I was surprised to discover they actually call racetrack bookies "Turf Accountants"; garbage collectors were "Swill Solicitors"!

These are almost as funny as our local school system which labels the school library "The Instructional Materials Center."

Maybe they should call you a "Problem Analyst for the Emotionally Distraught" instead of "Dispenser of Advice to the Lovelorn."

What say you, Annie? – Ken C. of West Va.

Dear Ken: I say deliver me from "Advice to the Lovelorn." I'll settle for "Human Relations Columnist." I don't need to be an "analyst." Thanks anyway.

Dear Ann Landers: The income-tax deadline has long since passed but I'm still mad enough about those cockeyed forms to write to Ann Landers.

I wish the government would get something straight. The "housewives" in this country are not "unemployed." We are pretty damned busy.

According to the Random House College Dictionary, to be "unemployed" is "to be unoccupied, or jobless." I am none of those things and neither are millions of other women who cook, clean, wash, iron, chase kids, sew on buttons, can, freeze and hunt bargains. Anyone who has the nutty idea that the woman who stays home is "unemployed" ought to follow me around from 7:00 a.m. until 11:00 p.m.. They'd get an eyeful. – D.L.K.

Dear D.L.K.: Thanks for an earful. I'm for revising the language on those I.R.S. forms. How about it, Washington?

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze and You – For Teen-Agers Only." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Household hints

Put flour in an old salt shaker, the larger the better, and shake over meat you want to brown in the frying pan. Saves wasting leftover flour.

Being overweight worsens arthritis

Dr. James W. Nordstrom, a nutrition extension specialist from Lincoln University at Jefferson City, explains how diets and certain foods affect the treatment of arthritis.

Q. My husband suffers from arthritis and his friends at work have recommended alfalfa pills as treatment. Do you think these pills are likely to help?

A. Special foods and diet supplements have not been shown to be helpful in the treatment of arthritis. The same can be said for alfalfa pills, honey, vinegar and all the different tonics (including vitamin and m ineral concoctions) that are sometimes promoted for treating arthritis.

Your physician can prescribe medications for relief of pain and may recommend some special treatments. Arthritis is a baffling disease that afflicts about 20 million Americans. Sometimes the symptoms disappear suddenly and someone who happens to be taking a special food or supplement at the time may quite naturally credit it for "curing" the arthritis.

One situation where diet does affect arthritis is when too much food (or too many calories) are consumed, since it is important for arthritis sufferers to control their weight. Too much weight can make matters worse because of the added stress placed on joints to support those extra pounds.

Getting married?

The Daily Standard, 205 S. New Madrid St., now has new wedding forms available at the front office or at the women's desk. Business hours are from 7 a.m., to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Forms will be mailed if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is provided.

The deadline for weddings is three weeks after date of wedding. Pictures will be returned if a self-addressed, stamped envelope large enough to hold a picture is supplied. Color pictures are discouraged. There is no charge for running a wedding. We are happy to publish it.

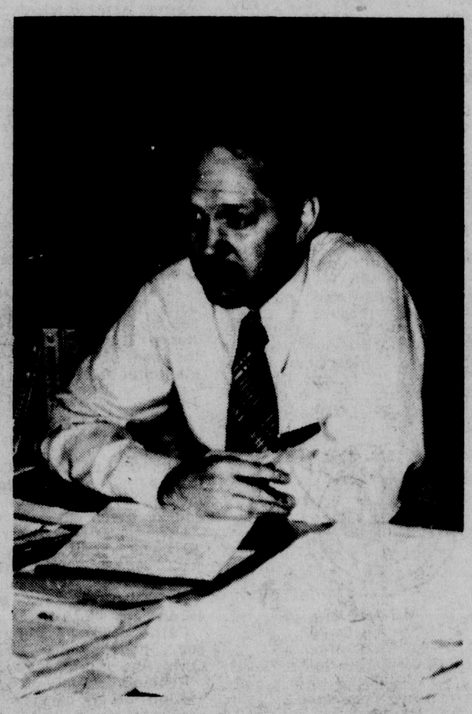
Why Do Rates Go Up?



JACK SIMERS

Q. What's been happening to the cost of materials and supplies?

A. From 1973 to '74 the price of an 8-foot crossarm went up 161 percent. Electrical wire prices increased 78 percent. Steel gas pipe was up 60 percent, and even plastic pipe went up 34 percent.
In fact there's not an item that hasn't gone up in price.

Q. What about future price trends?

A. A few prices are leveling out, but they're stabilizing at these higher levels. We expect most costs to continue to climb.

Q. What does all that mean to the consumer?

A. As in any other business, the rates a utility charges must reflect today's costs. When the impact of inflation becomes greater than a company can absorb, rates must go up.

We at Arkansas-Missouri Power Company and Associated Natural Gas Company hope this interview with Mr. Simers has helped you to understand that we are not immune to the effects of inflation . . . and why, at times, we must raise our rates.

Here it is: "Alcoholism is a character disorder marked by repeated excessive drinking to such a degree that the individual's own efficiency or happiness is severely impaired and the relationships in his family, in his business and with his friends are jeopardized."

Here's an added statement by Ann Landers:

I know of no single element in our society that has wrecked more careers, ruined more marriages and destroyed more healthy bodies than booze.

Dear Ann Landers: Since your column has so many grim and heart-rending letters I thought you might enjoy something on the light side for a change. This was prompted by the letter from the woman who wrote and suggested a better name than "just a housewife." She came up with "Domestic Engineer."

When I visited England I was surprised to discover they actually call racetrack bookies "Turf Accountants"; garbage collectors were "Swill Solicitors"!

These are almost as funny as our local school system which labels the school library "The Instructional Materials Center."

Maybe they should call you a "Problem Analyst for the Emotionally Distraught" instead of "Dispenser of Advice to the Lovelorn."

What say you, Annie? – Ken C. of West Va.

Dear Ken: I say deliver me from "Advice to the Lovelorn." I'll settle for "Human Relations Columnist." I don't need to be an "analyst." Thanks anyway.

Dear Ann Landers: The income-tax deadline has long since passed but I'm still mad enough about those cockeyed forms to write to Ann Landers.

I wish the government would get something straight. The "housewives" in this country are not "unemployed." We are pretty damned busy.

According to the Random House College Dictionary, to be "unemployed" is "to be unoccupied, or jobless." I am none of those things and neither are millions of other women who cook, clean, wash, iron, chase kids, sew on buttons, can, freeze and hunt bargains. Anyone who has the nutty idea that the woman who stays home is "unemployed" ought to follow me around from 7:00 a.m. until 11:00 p.m.. They'd get an eyeful. – D.L.K.

Dear D.L.K.: Thanks for an earful. I'm for revising the language on those I.R.S. forms. How about it, Washington?

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze and You -- For Teen-Agers Only." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Being overweight worsens arthritis

Dr. James W. Nordstrom, a nutrition extension specialist from Lincoln University at Jefferson City, explains how diets and certain foods affect the treatment of arthritis.

Q. My husband suffers from arthritis and his friends at work have recommended alfalfa pills as treatment. Do you think these pills are likely to help?

A. Special foods and diet supplements have not been shown to be helpful in the treatment of arthritis. The same can be said for alfalfa pills, honey, vinegar and all the different tonics (including vitamin and m ineral concoctions) that are sometimes promoted for treating arthritis.

Your physician can prescribe medications for relief of pain and may recommend some special treatments. Arthritis is a baffling disease that afflicts about 20 million Americans. Sometimes the symptoms disappear suddenly and someone who happens to be taking a special food or supplement at the time may quite naturally credit it for "curing" the arthritis.

One situation where diet does affect arthritis is when too much food (or too many calories) are consumed, since it is important for arthritis sufferers to control their weight. Too much weight can make matters worse because of the added stress placed on joints to support those extra pounds.

Getting married?

The Daily Standard, 205 S. New Madrid St., now has new wedding forms available at the front office or at the women's desk. Business hours are from 7 a.m., to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Forms will be mailed if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is provided.

The deadline for weddings is three weeks after date of wedding. Pictures will be returned if a self-addressed, stamped envelope large enough to hold a picture is supplied. Color pictures are discouraged. There is no charge for running a wedding. We are happy to publish it.

Why Do Rates Go Up?

JACK SIMERS

Q. What's been happening to the cost of materials and supplies?

A. From 1973 to '74 the price of an 8-foot crossarm went up 161 percent. Electrical wire prices increased 78 percent. Steel gas pipe was up 60 percent, and even plastic pipe went up 34 percent.
In fact there's not an item that hasn't gone up in price.

Q. What about future price trends?

A. A few prices are leveling out, but they're stabilizing at these higher levels. We expect most costs to continue to climb.

Q. What does all that mean to the consumer?

A. As in any other business, the rates a utility charges must reflect today's costs. When the impact of inflation becomes greater than a company can absorb, rates must go up.

We at Arkansas-Missouri Power Company and Associated Natural Gas Company hope this interview with Mr. Simers has helped you to understand that we are not immune to the effects of inflation . . . and why, at times, we must raise our rates.

Cinnamon Sprinkles

3 Tbsp. butter
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1 Tbsp. water
1 can (5½ ounces) evaporated milk

Melt butter in saucepan. Add sugar and water; mix well. Bring to a boil; cook over low heat one minute, stirring constantly. Cool 10 minutes. (Mixture will harden). Gradually add milk, stirring until blended. One and one-third cups

Raspberry-Pineapple Sauce

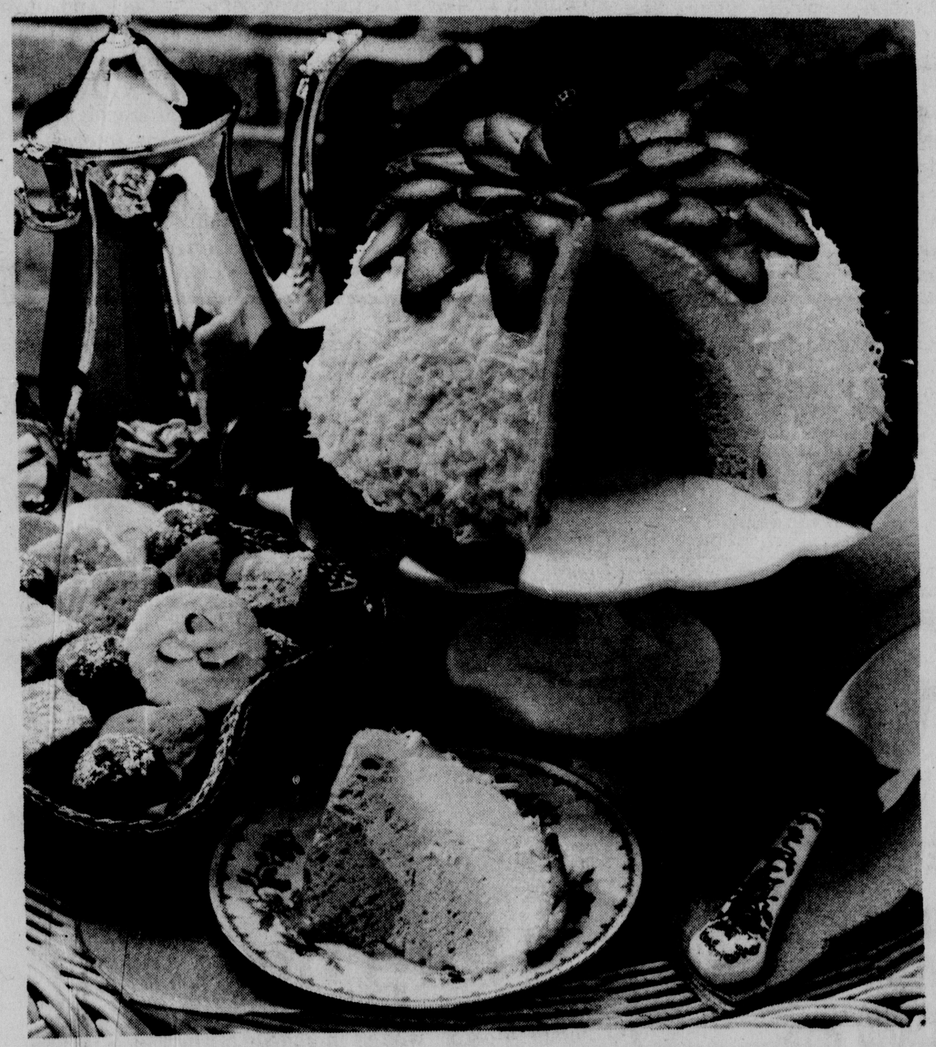
1 package of (10 ounce) frozen raspberries, thawed
1 Tbsp. cornstarch
4 tsp. sugar
1 Tbsp. butter
red food coloring
1 can (8¼ ounce) crushed pineapple, drained
⅛ tsp. almond extract

Drain raspberries, reserving syrup. Add enough water to syrup to make one cup. Gradually stir liquid into combined cornstarch and sugar, stirring until blended. Bring to a boil. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add butter. Fold in raspberries, a few drops of red food coloring, pineapple and almond extract. Cool. Two cups sauce.

Butterscotch Rich Sauce

¼ cup butter
1 cup graham cracker crumbs
2 Tbsp. sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon

Melt butter in small pan. Add combined crumbs, sugar and cinnamon; toss lightly. Heat over medium temperature five minutes, stirring frequently. Cool. One and one-fourth cups mixture.



Strawberry Bombe

2½ quarts vanilla ice cream
1 quart strawberry ice cream
2 Tbsp. creme de menthe
6 to 8 drops green food coloring
1 pint raspberry sherbet
1 cup flaked coconut

Chill 2½-quart bowl in freezer. Spread 1½-quarts softened vanilla ice cream around sides of bowl; freeze. Spread softened strawberry ice cream over vanilla layer; freeze. Combine one quart softened vanilla ice cream, creme de menthe and green food coloring, in chilled bowl; mix until blended. Freeze 30 minutes. Spread over strawberry layer; freeze. Spoon raspberry sherbet into center of mold. Wrap securely with aluminum foil; freeze. To unmold, quickly dip bowl into spatula. Invert onto chilled serving plate. Return to freezer. Place in refrigerator 30 minutes before serving. Coat with coconut. Garnish with strawberry slices and lemon leaves, if desired. 16 servings.

Almond Butter Cookies

1 cup butter
¾ cup sugar
½ tsp. vanilla
½ tsp. almond extract
1¾ cups all-purpose flour
½ tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
One-third cup finely chopped sliced almonds

Cream softened butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Stir in vanilla and almond extract. Gradually add combined flour, baking powder, salt and nuts to creamed mixture; mix well. Shape dough into one-inch balls. Place on cookie sheet. Flatten dough with bottom of glass dipped in sugar. If desired, press almond slices into dough. Bake at 375 degrees, 10 to 12 minutes or until set. Four dozen cookies.

½ cup sugar
2 tsp. vanilla
1¾ cups all-purpose flour
¼ cup cocoa
1 tsp. instant coffee powder
½ tsp. salt
¾ cup finely chopped nuts
½ cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained

Cream softened butter, sugar and vanilla until light and fluffy. Gradually add combined flour, cocoa, coffee powder and salt to creamed mixture; mix well. Stir in nuts and cherries. Chill dough. Shape dough into 1-inch balls; place on cookie sheet. Bake at 325 degrees, 16 to 18 minutes or until set. Cool, Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and garnish with chopped maraschino cherries, if desired. Six dozen cookies.

Key Lime Squares

½ cup butter
1 cup all-purpose flour
¼ cup confectioners' sugar
⅛ tsp. salt
---
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
3 Tbsp. lime juice
1 tsp. grated lime peel
3 Tbsp. all-purpose flour
½ tsp. baking powder
⅛ tsp. salt
5 drops green food coloring

Cut butter into combined flour, sugar and salt until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Press into bottom of buttered nine-inch square baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees, 18 to 20 minutes or until lightly browned.

Combine eggs, sugar, lime juice and peel, flour, baking powder, salt and green food color. Beat two minutes on medium speed of electric mixer. Pour over baked crust. Bake at 350 degrees, 18 to 20 minutes or until set. Cool. Refrigerate. Dip knife into warm water; cut into squares.

Warm weather causes baby rash

Prickly heat, also known as "red pepper rash," is a very common skin problem for infants in hot weather. It results from the plugging up and irritation of sweat glands, and in severe cases, may cause itching.

To avoid the problem, or to help cope with it should it occur, physicians often recommend that baby be bathed in lukewarm water, dried carefully and placed in a cool area free of drafts. A nondrying liquid skin cleanser such as pHisoDerm can be used. It is nonirritating tomost skin and is used in many hospitals for baby bathing.

A well-known physician advises that baby oils or baby powders be avoided. "They may contribute to the plugging of the sweat glands," he explains. A physician should be consulted if the rash of prickly heat persists or grows worse.

Household hints

To avoid charred, sooty meat when charcoal broiling, control the charcoalso you have a bed of hot charcoa, not an open flame. Open flames can be controlled by sprinkling water on the fire as flames erupt. Charcoal should be lighted and burned until it is glowing before the meat is put on the grill. Active flames cause considerable smoking of the meat and this results in less tender steaks. Furthermore, if fat drips onto hot charcoal and ignites, the resulting sooty flames may burn the meat or deposit tar from smoke.

Household hints

The chrysanthemum is salads; its taste is similar to eaten by the Japanese in that of cauliflower.

Cards bomb Giants

LOUIS (AP) —"If I could do this for about 550 times at bat I'd be pretty happy," the St. Louis Cardinals' Ted Simmons conceded.

The switch-hitting Simmons, currently among baseball's hottest hitters, referred Wednesday night both to success against the San Francisco Giants and his over-all season's batting average of .329.

A four-hit spree by the slimmed-down catcher helped demolish the Giants 9-0 and also boosted his mark in nine Cardinal games against San Francisco to a lofty .414.

But instead of reveling in the moment, Simmons tossed credit to a teammate, Ron Fairly, who is hitting .340.

"Fairly taught me the technique," said Simmons after strafing Giants starting pitcher John Montefusco, 6-4, and four successors for two singles and two doubles.

"It's not a mental thing," Simmons insisted. "It's a very definite technique. I think if Ron wants to divulge the technique, he'll tell you."

The veteran Fairly, himself the producer of two St. Louis runs with his fourth homer of the season, attributed most of a .484 Simmons rampage in July to the fact that "Ted's got a lot of talent."

"It's just an approach to hitting, and we've talked about it," Fairly noted. "All I've done is to give him the ideas that I've had when I'm hitting."

Whatever the ideas, each paid off as Simmons chipped in during four of the innings in which the Cardinals scored.

His ringing double to right followed Willie Davis' solo home run sending St. Louis on top in the opening inning, and two innings later he singled ahead of Fairly's clout.

Simmons also singled as the Cards scored in the fourth, then capped his 4-for-4 performance with a run-producing double for his 56th RBI in the seventh.

"I'm just going out there taking each day as it comes," said the St. Louis cleanup hitter, whose efforts made pitching easier for rookie John Denny, 4-3, the winner with an eight hitter.

"I think sometimes you just get concerned about hitting the long ball," Simmons reflected. "I frequently fall into that trap. I wind up hitting into a lot of double plays, and you really don't have to."

A satisfying Simmons blow for for both himself and his tutor, Fairly, was an opposite field single he slashed opening the third after fouling off six pitches.

"Why swing from the tail?" an approving Fairly asked. "It's put the ball in play. We're playing in parks with AstroTurf now. Why not take advantage of it?"

Even though Cardinal first baseman Reggie Smith gives all the stretch he can, Umpire Bob Engel has to call oncoming runner Pete Mackanin, Montreal second baseman, safe in this play in the second game of Saturday night's doubleheader in St. Louis.

Brashear fashions 1-hitter

The Sikeston Saints solidified their hold on first place in the Men's Independent Baseball League last night by blasting Bertrand 11-0 in a game shortened by the ten-run rule.

Winning pitcher Mike Brasher allowed only a fourth inning infield single, while fanning ten in his second victory. He also drove home three runs with two triples.

Driving in two runs with two hits each wereRick Eisenbach, and Jeff Jackson. Each ripped a double and a single, leading a 12-hit Saints attack.

A seven-run second inning against loser Dick Bethune iced the Saints 13th win in 15 starts this season. They added four in the third against reliever Mike Gentry, who blanked the winners over the final two frames.

The Saints travel to Anna, Illinois, for an eight o'clock game Friday night in their next engagement.

TRYOUT CAMP

A tryout camp for baseball players will be conducted by the Cincinnati Reds on Wednesday, July 16, at Chaffee, Missouri. The camp is open to boys from 16 to 22. High school sophomores and juniors are also urged to attend.

Ron Jaynes

Sports Corner

Reds Scouting Supervisor, Chet Montgomery, will oversee the tryout, which is scheduled from 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. at Harmon Field.

Montgomery will be assisted by scouts, Bill Bradshaw and Bob Jamison.

All eligible players are requested to furnish their own personal gear -- shoes, gloves, uniforms. The Reds will provide bats and baseballs.

In addition, players will be responsible for traveling and living expenses, if any, unless they are signed to contracts with the Cincinnati Reds organization teams.

Players must be 16-years of age to be eligible and allAmerican Legion players must have written approval from their Legion Coaches or Post Commanders, if attendance at the tryout is in direct conflict with American Legion activities.

MINGO YCC TRANSPLANT FISH

The twenty young men and woman working under the Youth Conservation Corp Program at Mingo this year got involved in conservation work in a hurry. When it began to look like some fish might be lost in Monopoly Lake, the corpsman began looking for ways to capture and transplant them. As a result of their efforts, several hundred fish were removed from the Monopoly Lake and Ditch 6 area with many being transplanted into Red Mill Pond.

The YCC is a summer work-education program for 15-18 year old boys and girls. The twenty corpman at Mingo began work on June 16 and will continue until August 8. they commute to work each day and become involved in a variety of conservation type work projects. An open house will be held July 27 for interested persons to view their work accomplishments.

The fish situation on Monopoly appears to have now stabilized withall of the fish being out of the Lake and into the ditches or river. The special regulations on fish removal will remain in effect until July 15 however. Any and all fish may be taken by pole and line, gigging, snaring, grabbing, nets, seines, etc. from Monopoly Lake and the ditches leading out of it. Persons interested should enter the refuge at the Job Corp Center and go to the Spillway or Flatbanks area.

Mingo National Wildlife Refuge is administered by the Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cards bomb Giants

LOUIS (AP) —"If I could do this for about 550 times at bat I'd be pretty happy," the St. Louis Cardinals' Ted Simmons conceded.

The switch-hitting Simmons, currently among baseball's hottest hitters, referred Wednesday night both to success against the San Francisco Giants and his over-all season's batting average of .329.

A four-hit spree by the slimmed-down catcher helped demolish the Giants 9-0 and also boosted his mark in nine Cardinal games against San Francisco to a lofty .414.

But instead of reveling in the moment, Simmons tossed credit to a teammate, Ron Fairly, who is hitting .340.

"Fairly taught me the technique," said Simmons after strafing Giants starting pitcher John Montefusco, 6-4, and four successors for two singles and two doubles.

"It's not a mental thing," Simmons insisted. "It's a very definite technique. I think if Ron wants to divulge the technique, he'll tell you."

The veteran Fairly, himself the producer of two St. Louis runs with his fourth homer of the season, attributed most of a .484 Simmons rampage in July to the fact that "Ted's got a lot of talent."

"It's just an approach to hitting, and we've talked about it," Fairly noted. "All I've done is to give him the ideas that I've had when I'm hitting."

Whatever the ideas, each paid off as Simmons chipped in during four of the innings in which the Cardinals scored.

His ringing double to right followed Willie Davis' solo home run sending St. Louis on top in the opening inning, and two innings later he singled ahead of Fairly's clout.

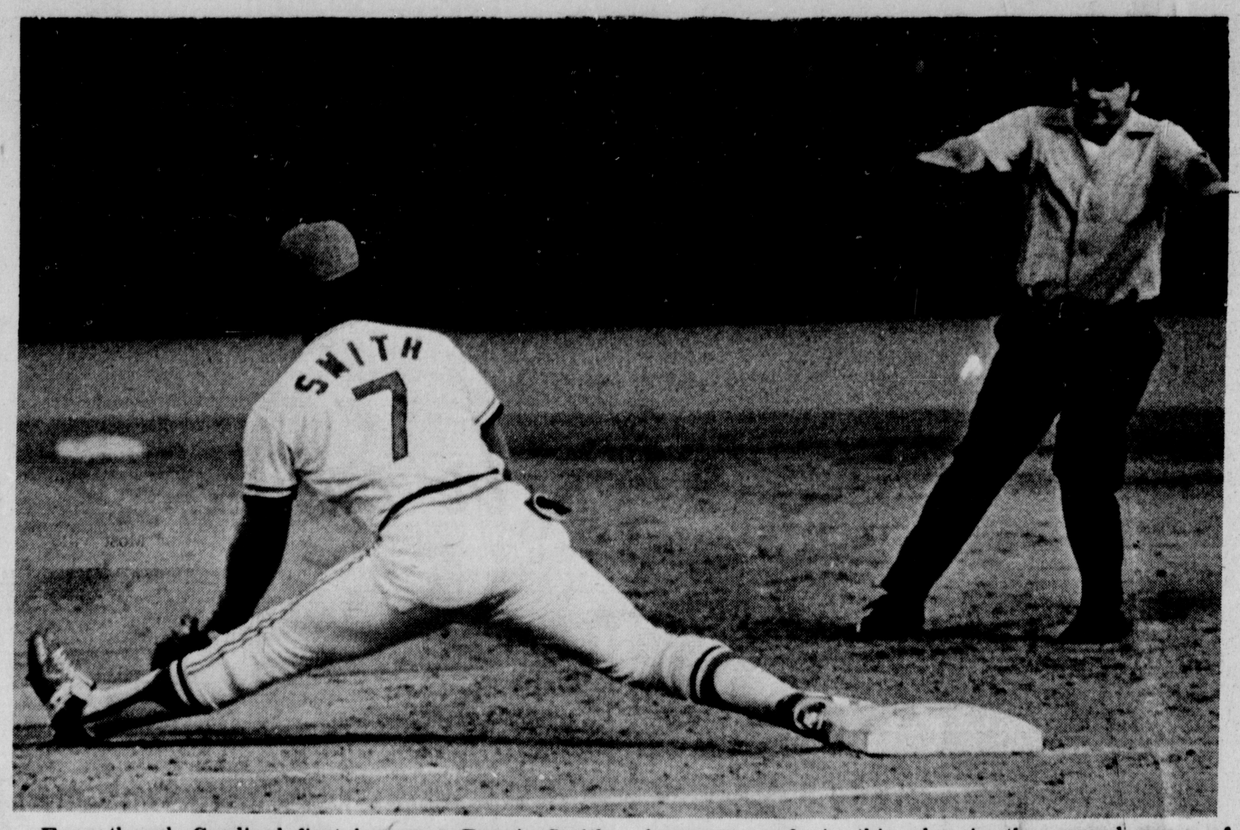
Simmons also singled as the Cards scored in the fourth, then capped his 4-for-4 performance with a run-producing double for his 56th RBI in the seventh.

"I'm just going out there taking each day as it comes," said the St. Louis cleanup hitter, whose efforts made pitching easier for rookie John Denny, 4-3, the winner with an eight hitter.

"I think sometimes you just get concerned about hitting the long ball," Simmons reflected. "I frequently fall into that trap. I wind up hitting into a lot of double plays, and you really don't have to."

A satisfying Simmons blow for for both himself and his tutor, Fairly, was an opposite field single he slashed opening the third after fouling off six pitches.

"Why swing from the tail?" an approving Fairly asked. "It's put the ball in play. We're playing in parks with AstroTurf now. Why not take advantage of it?"



Even though Cardinal first baseman Reggie Smith gives all the stretch he can, Umpire Bob Engel has to call oncoming runner Pete Mackanin, Montreal second baseman, safe in this play in the second game of Saturday night's doubleheader in St. Louis.

Brashear fashions 1-hitter

The Sikeston Saints solidified their hold on first place in the Men's Independent Baseball League last night by blasting Bertrand 11-0 in a game shortened by the ten-run rule.

Winning pitcher Mike Brasher allowed only a fourth inning infield single, while fanning ten in his second victory. He also drove home three runs with two triples.

Driving in two runs with two hits each wereRick Eisenbach, and Jeff Jackson. Each ripped a double and a single, leading a 12-hit Saints attack.

A seven-run second inning against loser Dick Bethune iced the Saints 13th win in 15 starts this season. They added four in the third against reliever Mike Gentry, who blanked the winners over the final two frames.

The Saints travel to Anna, Illinois, for an eight o'clock game Friday night in their next engagement.

TRYOUT CAMP

A tryout camp for baseball players will be conducted by the Cincinnati Reds on Wednesday, July 16, at Chaffee, Missouri. The camp is open to boys from 16 to 22. High school sophomores and juniors are also urged to attend.

Reds Scouting Supervisor, Chet Montgomery, will oversee the tryout, which is scheduled from 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. at Harmon Field.

Montgomery will be assisted by scouts, Bill Bradshaw and Bob Jamison.

All eligible players are requested to furnish their own personal gear -- shoes, gloves, uniforms. The Reds will provide bats and baseballs.

In addition, players will be responsible for traveling and living expenses, if any, unless they are signed to contracts with the Cincinnati Reds organization teams.

Players must be 16-years of age to be eligible and allAmerican Legion players must have written approval from their Legion Coaches or Post Commanders, if attendance at the tryout is in direct conflict with American Legion activities.

MINGO YCC TRANSPLANT FISH

The twenty young men and woman working under the Youth Conservation Corp Program at Mingo this year got involved in conservation work in a hurry. When it began to look like some fish might be lost in Monopoly Lake, the corpsman began looking for ways to capture and transplant them. As a result of their efforts, several hundred fish were removed from the Monopoly Lake and Ditch 6 area with many being transplanted into Red Mill Pond.

The YCC is a summer work-education program for 15-18 year old boys and girls. The twenty corpman at Mingo began work on June 16 and will continue until August 8. they commute to work each day and become involved in a variety of conservation type work projects. An open house will be held July 27 for interested persons to view their work accomplishments.

The fish situation on Monopoly appears to have now stabilized withall of the fish being out of the Lake and into the ditches or river. The special regulations on fish removal will remain in effect until July 15 however. Any and all fish may be taken by pole and line, gigging, snaring, grabbing, nets, seines, etc. from Monopoly Lake and the ditches leading out of it. Persons interested should enter the refuge at the Job Corp Center and go to the Spillway or Flatbanks area.

Mingo National Wildlife Refuge is administered by the Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Department of the Interior.

Yankees place 3 on All-star team

NEW YORK (AP) — A last-minute burst of support by Yankee fans has given dark horse Graig Nettles the starting spot at third base in the American League lineup for the 1975 All-Star Game.

Nettles, ranked fourth a week ago, attracted a total of 1,181,583 votes to outdistance runnerup Sal Bando of Oakland and last week's leader, Buddy Bell of Cleveland, according to the voting results released Thursday by the baseball commissioners office.

The Yankee infielder, an All-Star rookie, also was one of three New York players to gain a starting position in the 46th annual event, and one of five players who found themselves top vote-getters for the first time.

New York's Thurman Munson was the runaway favorite for catcher with 2,068,535 votes, a margin of 1,093,372 over Oakland's Ray Fosse, and teammate Bobby Bonds took top honors in the outfield. Other newcomers to the leading lineup were outfielder Joe Rudi and first baseman Gene Tenace of Oakland.

Tenace, who like Nettles will be playing in the game for the first time, edged Mike Hargrove of Texas 1,241,377 votes to 1,220,904.

The five will be joined by outfielder Reggie Jackson and shortstop Bert Campaneris of Oakland, and Rod Carew of Minnesota, the league's No. 1 vote-getter in 1975 with 3,165,614. Carew and the National League's Johnny Bench are the only players to be elected as starters in all six years of fan voting.

Munson has never before been a first choice in the All-Star game, but started last year as a substitute for an injured Carlton Fisk. He also appeared in the 1971 and 1973 classics.

The AL outfield contest was the hottest, with Bonds vaulting from third to first place in last week's tabulation with a total of 1,767,198 votes. He was elected the All-Star Most Valuable Player in 1973 while a San Francisco Giant and played in 1971, but has not previously started.

Runnerup Jackson amassed 1,590,346 votes, while Rudi received 1,460,338.

Boston rookie Fred Lynn, a write-in candidate, jumped from ninth place to fourth in the final days of voting, but missed gaining an outfield position by 44,374 ballots.

The American League pitching staff, chosen by All-Star manager Alvin Dark of Oakland, will include Jim 'Catfish' Hunter of New York, Jim Palmer of Baltimore, Nolan Ryan of California, Steve Busby of Kansas City, Vida Blue and Rollie Fingers of Oakland and Jim Kaat and Rich Gossage of Chicago.

A final-week surge of votes lifted Jim Wynn of the Los Angeles Dodgers into the National League's All-Star line-up, announced Wednesday.

Wynn overtook Del Unser of the New York Mets, who had been leading for the third starting berth in the outfield.

He joins Pete Rose of Cincinnati and Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals in the NL outfield. Other NL starters are first baseball Steve Garvey of Los Angeles, Most Valuable Player in last year's game; Dave Concepcion of Cincinnati at shortstop, Roy Cey of Los Angeles at third base and Johnny Bench of Cincinnati as catcher.

Yankees place 3 on All-star team

NEW YORK (AP) — A last-minute burst of support by Yankee fans has given dark horse Graig Nettles the starting spot at third base in the American League lineup for the 1975 All-Star Game.

Nettles, ranked fourth a week ago, attracted a total of 1,181,583 votes to outdistance runnerup Sal Bando of Oakland and last week's leader, Buddy Bell of Cleveland, according to the voting results released Thursday by the baseball commissioners office.

The Yankee infielder, an All-Star rookie, also was one of three New York players to gain a starting position in the 46th annual event, and one of five players who found themselves top vote-getters for the first time.

New York's Thurman Munson was the runaway favorite for catcher with 2,068,535 votes, a margin of 1,093,372 over Oakland's Ray Fosse, and teammate Bobby Bonds took top honors in the outfield. Other newcomers to the leading lineup were outfielder Joe Rudi and first baseman Gene Tenace of Oakland.

Tenace, who like Nettles will be playing in the game for the first time, edged Mike Hargrove of Texas 1,241,377 votes to 1,220,904.

The five will be joined by outfielder Reggie Jackson and shortstop Bert Campaneris of Oakland, and Rod Carew of Minnesota, the league's No. 1 vote-getter in 1975 with 3,165,614. Carew and the National League's Johnny Bench are the only players to be elected as starters in all six years of fan voting.

Munson has never before been a first choice in the All-Star game, but started last year as a substitute for an injured Carlton Fisk. He also appeared in the 1971 and 1973 classics.

The AL outfield contest was the hottest, with Bonds vaulting from third to first place in last week's tabulation with a total of 1,767,198 votes. He was elected the All-Star Most Valuable Player in 1973 while a San Francisco Giant and played in 1971, but has not previously started.

Runnerup Jackson amassed 1,590,346 votes, while Rudi received 1,460,338.

Boston rookie Fred Lynn, a write-in candidate, jumped from ninth place to fourth in the final days of voting, but missed gaining an outfield position by 44,374 ballots.

The American League pitching staff, chosen by All-Star manager Alvin Dark of Oakland, will include Jim 'Catfish' Hunter of New York, Jim Palmer of Baltimore, Nolan Ryan of California, Steve Busby of Kansas City, Vida Blue and Rollie Fingers of Oakland and Jim Kaat and Rich Gossage of Chicago.

A final-week surge of votes lifted Jim Wynn of the Los Angeles Dodgers into the National League's All-Star line-up, announced Wednesday.

Wynn overtook Del Unser of the New York Mets, who had been leading for the third starting berth in the outfield.

He joins Pete Rose oi Cincinnati and Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals in the NL outfield. Other NL starters are first baseball Steve Garvey of Los Angeles, Most Valuable Player in last year's game; Dave Concepcion of Cincinnati at shortstop, Roy Cey of Los Angeles at third base and Johnny Bench of Cincinnati as catcher.

Manager Walt Alston named a nine-man pitching staff earlier this week, selecting Andy Messersmith, Don Sutton and Mike Marshall of the Dodgers, Tom Seaver and Jon Matlack of the Mets, Tug McGraw of Philadelphia, Phil Niekro of Atlanta.

Historic weapons hunters will have six deer hunts in Missouri this fall, including two for bowhunters only and four for historic weapons - bows, crowbows and mussleloading guns. One hunt, at Peck Ranch Refuge in Carter and Shannon Counties, has been named the Bicentennial Historic Weapons Hunt.

Be sure all poisons are clearly marked. This can be done by sealing with adhesive tape or using a special marker. When you throw away drugs or hazardous materials, be sure the contents cannot be reached by children or pets.

Warn small children not to eat or drink drugs, chemicals, plants, or berries they find -- with out your approval. Insist on this.

Know why you can't take it with you? Because it goes before you do.

Trial worth watching for reality impact

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're gifted with viewing endurance, catch "The Chicago Conspiracy Trial" on public TV tonight. It lasts 2½ hours, should have been cut to 90 minutes, but still is worth watching.

It's a dramatization of the controversial trial of Abbie Hoffman and seven other radicals opposed to the Vietnam war who were charged with conspiring to incite a riot at the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Co-produced by the British Broadcasting Corp. and Time-Life Television, its script is based entirely on verbatim excerpts taken from the 23,000-page trial transcript, public TV officials say.

Narrated by a British announcer and acted by American thespians, it starts with opening pleadings before Julius Hoffman, the crusty federal court judge whose conduct of the 20-week trial was heavily criticized by leading liberal figures after the verdict came in.

Then the program cuts to film clips of the antiwar demonstrations and violence surrounding the 1968 convention to set the stage for the ensuing fireworks and impassioned speeches in court.

The proceedings — including the much-publicized binding and gagging of defendant Bobby Seale, head of the Black Panthers — are amply illustrated in the show's selection of various trial phases, phases which occasionally include some obscenities rarely heard on TV.

Alas, the dramatization at times gets bogged down in long-winded minor moments of the trial and one starts wishing the re-creation hadn't been so thorough.

But the feeling of reality is strong, both because the actors in the principal roles bear uncanny resemblances to the actual trial participants and because the acting is uncommonly good.

The standouts: James Patterson as the chief defense lawyer, William Kunstler; Morris Carnovsky as Judge Hoffman; Al Freeman Jr. as Seale and Cliff Gorman as Abbie Hoffman.

Burlison for strong bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. — After termination of the Arab oil embargo, members of the executive and legislative branches of government were clamoring for a strong fuel conservaion program to drastically reduce our dependence on foreign oil. I publicly at the time, and have repeated frequently, that this would never happen as long as we have an abundant supply. With storage facilities glutted and retail supplies available, the American people will refuse to make the sacrifices necessary for meaningful reduction in use.

This has now been borne out by the President's program and that of the House Representatives. The President and representatives listen to the folks back home and characteristically confirm the wishes of the constituents. So we have a nominal energy conservation program. The Ways and Means Committee bill reported to the floor was a tough one that would have reduced gasoline consumption and would virtually have meant the end of the big gas-guzzling automobile.

Though I supported the tough provisions of the bill, my colleagues abandoned them in droves. There was little support for them in Congress, which, when translated, means there was little support back home. The bill finally passed by the House was a weak one. This newsletter will be an attempt to summarize the proposals of the President and the Congress as reflected in the House Bill just passed. It should be remembered that the Senate must act on the Bill and the President sign it before it becomes law. In fairness, it should also be stated that the Congress will soon be acting on an energy conservatiob and policy proposal out of the Commerce Committee.

PRESIDENTIAL PROPOSAL

1. A $3 barrel import tariff($2 of that has already been imposed). This translates into an increase of 4.5c per gallon increase in gasoline and 2.2c per gallon increase in fuel oil.
2. A $2 per barrel excise tax on domestic crude oil.
3. Decontrol of domestic old oil prices. "Incidentally, current controls expire on August 31 and if the law is not extended, there will be automatic decontrol at that time."
4. A voluntary agreement by the auto industry to improve fuel efficiency by 40 per cent by 1980.
5. Delay requirement that oil and gas-burning power plants convert to coal. Relax Clean Air act standards.

HOUSE PASSED BILL

1. Oil import quotas of 6.5-7.0 million barrels per day.
2. Fuel economy standards program enforced by civil penalties to encourage production of fuel efficient cars (watered down from original bill)
3. A tax credit for purchasers of electric cars.
4. Tax credit for installation of solar heating equipment.
5. Tax exemptions for industries that generate their own electricity.
6. Tax exemption for textile and apparel industries.
7. Tax deductions for equipment which converts wastes directly into energy.
8. Numerous other tax exemption type provisions.

It seems obvious that the House bill is as much a tax shelter (also known as loophole) bill as one for energy conservation.

Council discusses authority of board

CHARLESTON — In regular session Tuesday night, the City Council approved a resolution amending the amount of a federal grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development from $402,639 to $322,111 for improvements to the water and sewer facilities.

A motion made by Councilman Lowell Nicholas and seconded by Councilman Wyman Beasley, recommending that a portion of a city ordinance authorizing the Land Clearance for Redevelopment Authority as the authorized representative of the Community Development Program be appealed, failed to pass when the other three councilmen voted against the measure.

Nicholas and Beasley each voiced opinions that the council should have more control over awarding of contracts for technical services and that the council should be consulted at all times on the general objectives of the program.

In a proposed amendment, read by Nicholas, it was also recommended that the council should be provided with a written monthly status report outlineing the activities accomplished in the prior month and a projection of activities planned for the coming month. It also stated that all priorities should be set by the council, which should have the responsibility for approving all activities of the Community Development program prior to the authority authorizing the activities to occur.

During the discussion, Tanna Parish, Urban Renewal director, said if the amendment was passed, it would de-activate the authority of the renewal board and any activities would have double approval which is not necessary.

City Manager Willis Downs reported the city has received its four revenue sharing check under Title Five in the amount of $30,383, which has been deposited in the general fund.

Fire Chief Tom McKenzie was authorized to attend the fire chief's conference in Columbia July 15 through the 20 with expenses, not to exceed $200, to be paid by the city.

The council authorized payment of $932 to the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission for the city's annual dues.

Following discussion, the council agreed that a flat rate of $6 per month should be charged all residents for water, although some of the residences have water meters installed at present. All commercial users will remain on metered rates.

City Attorney W. Clifton Banta Sr. was instructed to prepare an ordinance which will authorize City Manager Downs to curtail all outside water use if water usage exceeds a million and a half gallons per day.

A five per cent beer and package liquor license for Ray Martin, owner of Martin's Grocery, was approved.

Hearings scheduled for rate increase

CPAE GIRARDEAU — Hearings will be held in Cape Girardeau and Columbia next month by the Missouri Public Service Commission so that customers of Missouri Utilities Company may testify in regard to the company's request for increases in electric, gas and water rates.

The hearing in Cape Girardeau will be held Aug. 25 in the community room of the Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Building, 2027 Broadway. The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 p.m., continuing to 4:30 p.m.; and the evening session will begin at 6 p.m.

The Columbia hearing will be held Aug. 26 in the Guitar Street Community Center, 2 Guitar St. The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 p.m., continuing to 4:30 p.m.; and the evening session will begin at 6 p.m.

Any person who wishes to testify at the hearings will be given an opportunity to do so.

Cross-examination of witnesses for the company, the commission staff, the public counsel of the Department of Consumer Affairs, regulation and Licensing and intervenors in the case will begin on Sept. 15. It earlier had been scheduled for Sept. 22. That hearing will begin at 10 a.m. in the Commission hearing room on the tenth floor of the Jefferson Building, Jefferson City. A prehearing conference will be held on Sept. 10.

Missouri Utilities has requested increases in gross annual revenues of $5,267,227 from electric service in its southeast division, $885,431 from gas service in its central division, $480,664 from gas service in its southeast division, and $185,000 from water service in Cape Girardeau. Those proposals have been suspended by the Commission.

They include increases of $1.4 million in electric revenues and $42,000 in gas revenues in the southeast division, and $260,000 in gas revenues in the central division that were allowed by the commission to go into effect on June 23.

Service in the southeast division is provided in Bollinger, Butler, Cape Girardeau, Dunklin, Mississippi, New Madrid, Saline, Scott and Stoddard counties. Water Service is provided only in the City of Cape Girardeau. Service in the central division is provided in Cooper, Miller, Moniteau, Morgan and Pettis counties.

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're gifted with viewing endurance, catch "The Chicago Conspiracy Trial" on public TV tonight. It lasts 2½ hours, should have been cut to 90 minutes, but still is worth watching.

It's a dramatization of the controversial trial of Abbie Hoffman and seven other radicals opposed to the Vietnam war who were charged with conspiring to incite a riot at the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Co-produced by the British Broadcasting Corp. and Time-Life Television, its script is based entirely on verbatim excerpts taken from the 23,000-page trial transcript, public TV officials say.

Narrated by a British announcer and acted by American thespians, it starts with opening pleadings before Julius Hoffman, the crusty federal court judge whose conduct of the 20-week trial was heavily criticized by leading liberal figures after the verdict came in.

Then the program cuts to film clips of the antiwar demonstrations and violence surrounding the 1968 convention to set the stage for the ensuing fireworks and impassioned speeches in court.

The proceedings — including the much-publicized binding and gagging of defendant Bobby Seale, head of the Black Panthers — are amply illustrated in the show's selection of various trial phases, phases which occasionally include some obscenities rarely heard on TV.

Alas, the dramatization at times gets bogged down in long-winded minor moments of the trial and one starts wishing the re-creation hadn't been so thorough.

But the feeling of reality is strong, both because the actors in the principal roles bear uncanny resemblances to the actual trial participants and because the acting is uncommonly good.

The standouts: James Patterson as the chief defense lawyer, William Kunstler; Morris Carnovsky as Judge Hoffman; Al Freeman Jr. as Seale and Cliff Gorman as Abbie Hoffman.

Burlison for strong bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. — After termination of the Arab oil embargo, members of the executive and legislative branches of government were clamoring for a strong fuel conservaion program to drastically reduce our dependence on foreign oil. I publicly at the time, and have repeated frequently, that this would never happen as long as we have an abundant supply. With storage facilities glutted and retail supplies available, the American people will refuse to make the sacrifices necessary for meaningful reduction in use.

This has now been borne out by the President's program and that of the House Representatives. The President and representatives listen to the folks back home and characteristically confirm the wishes of the constituents. So we have a nominal energy conservation program. The Ways and Means Committee bill reported to the floor was a tough one that would have reduced gasoline consumption and would virtually have meant the end of the big gas-guzzling automobile.

Though I supported the tough provisions of the bill, my colleagues abandoned them in droves. There was little support for them in Congress, which, when translated, means there was little support back home. The bill finally passed by the House was a weak one. This newsletter will be an attempt to summarize the proposals of the President and the Congress as reflected in the House Bill just passed. It should be remembered that the Senate must act on the Bill and the President sign it before it becomes law. In fairness, it should also be stated that the Congress will soon be acting on an energy conservatiob and policy proposal out of the Commerce Committee.

PRESIDENTIAL PROPOSAL

1. A $3 barrel import tariff ($2 of that has already been imposed). This translates into an increase of 4.5c per gallon increase in gasoline and 2.2c per gallon increase in fuel oil.
2. A $2 per barrel excise tax on domestic crude oil.
3. Decontrol of domestic old oil prices. "Incidentally, current controls expire on August 31 and if the law is not extended, there will be automatic decontrol at that time."
4. A voluntary agreement by the auto industry to improve fuel efficiency by 40 per cent by 1980.
5. Delay requirement that oil and gas-burning power plants convert to coal. Relax Clean Air act standards.

HOUSE PASSED BILL

1. Oil import quotas of 6.5-7.0 million barrels per day.
2. Fuel economy standards program enforced by civil penalties to encourage production of fuel efficient cars (watered down from original bill)
3. A tax credit for purchasers of electric cars.
4. Tax credit for installation of solar heating equipment.
5. Tax exemptions for industries that generate their own electricity.
6. Tax exemption for textile and apparel industries.
7. Tax deductions for equipment which converts wastes directly into energy.
8. Numerous other tax exemption type provisions.

It seems obvious that the House bill is as much a tax shelter (also known as loophole) bill as one for energy conservation.

Council discusses authority of board

CHARLESTON — In regular session Tuesday night, the City Council approved a resolution amending the amount of a federal grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development from $402,639 to $322,111 for improvements to the water and sewer facilities.

A motion made by Councilman Lowell Nicholas and seconded by Councilman Wyman Beasley, recommending that a portion of a city ordinance authorizing the Land Clearance for Redevelopment Authority as the authorized representative of the Community Development Program be appealed, failed to pass when the other three councilmen voted against the measure.

Nicholas and Beasley each voiced opinions that the council should have more control over awarding of contracts for technical services and that the council should be consulted at all times on the general objectives of the program.

In a proposed amendment, read by Nicholas, it was also recommended that the council should be provided with a written monthly status report outlineing the activities accomplished in the prior month and a projection of activities planned for the coming month. It also stated that all priorities should be set by the council, which should have the responsibility for approving all activities of the Community Development program prior to the authority authorizing the activities to occur.

During the discussion, Tanna Parish, Urban Renewal director, said if the amendment was passed, it would de-activate the authority of the renewal board and any activities would have double approval which is not necessary.

City Manager Willis Downs reported the city has received its four revenue sharing check under Title Five in the amount of $30,383, which has been deposited in the general fund.

Fire Chief Tom McKenzie was authorized to attend the fire chief's conference in Columbia July 15 through the 20 with expenses, not to exceed $200, to be paid by the city.

The council authorized payment of $932 to the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission for the city's annual dues.

Following discussion, the council agreed that a flat rate of $6 per month should be charged all residents for water, although some of the residences have water meters installed at present. All commercial users will remain on metered rates.

City Attorney W. Clifton Banta Sr. was instructed to prepare an ordinance which will authorize City Manager Downs to curtail all outside water use if water usage exceeds a million and a half gallons per day.

A five per cent beer and package liquor license for Ray Martin, owner of Martin's Grocery, was approved.

Hearings scheduled for rate increase

CPAE GIRARDEAU — Hearings will be held in Cape Girardeau and Columbia next month by the Missouri Public Service Commission so that customers of Missouri Utilities Company may testify in regard to the company's request for increases in electric, gas and water rates.

The hearing in Cape Girardeau will be held Aug. 25 in the community room of the Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Building, 2027 Broadway. The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 p.m., continuing to 4:30 p.m.; and the evening session will begin at 6 p.m.

The Columbia hearing will be held Aug. 26 in the Guitar Street Community Center, 2 Guitar St. The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 p.m., continuing to 4:30 p.m.; and the evening session will begin at 6 p.m.

Any person who wishes to testify at the hearings will be given an opportunity to do so.

Cross-examination of witnesses for the company, the commission staff, the public counsel of the Department of Consumer Affairs, regulation and Licensing and intervenors in the case will begin on Sept. 15. It earlier had been scheduled for Sept. 22. That hearing will begin at 10 a.m. in the Commission hearing room on the tenth floor of the Jefferson Building, Jefferson City. A prehearing conference will be held on Sept. 10.

Missouri Utilities has requested increases in gross annual revenues of $5,267,227 from electric service in its southeast division, $885,431 from gas service in its central division, $480,664 from gas service in its southeast division, and $185,000 from water service in Cape Girardeau. Those proposals have been suspended by the Commission.

They include increases of $1.4 million in electric revenues and $42,000 in gas revenues in the southeast division, and $260,000 in gas revenues in the central division that were allowed by the commission to go into effect on June 23.

Service in the southeast division is provided in Bollinger, Butler, Cape Girardeau, Dunklin, Mississippi, New Madrid, Saline, Scott and Stoddard counties. Water Service is provided only in the City of Cape Girardeau. Service in the central division is provided in Cooper, Miller, Moniteau, Morgan and Pettis counties.

Former secretaries can get unemployment benefits if requirements are met

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Members of the Missouri House believe there is little they can do to stop former legislative secretaries from receiving special federally subsidized unemployment benefits now that the session is over.

"It's a federal problem and there's nothing we can do if they're eligible and comply with it," said Republican Floor Leader Robert Snyder of Kirkwood during a committee meeting on the question Wednesday.

The House Accounts Committee, however, decided to ask its legislative research staff to look into the federal program to make sure that the state is complying with all requirements under it.

About 95 former legislative secretaries have applied for the jobless benefits since the session ended last month, and Jim Duncan, head of the Jefferson City office of the state Division of Employment Security, said the initial payments to those women will probably be made next week.

The secretaries, who have not been eligible for any compensation payments in past years, must still meet requirements those receiving regular unemployment benefits meet as well as be actively looking for a job.

"If we're in compliance with the law," said House Speaker Richard Rabbitt of St. Louis, "There's nothing we can do."

The federal supplemental unemployment assistance benefits will expire Dec. 31 unless renewed by congress.

Ryan adds support to Hearnes

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Circuit Attorney Brendan Ryan has added his name to those supporting former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes as a Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate.

"Warren Hearnes is a thoroughly experienced public servant who compiled outstanding records in both legislative and administrative government positions," Ryan, also a Democrat, said Wednesday.

He added that Hearnes' two terms as governor were noted for effective law enforcement and protection of individual rights.

Hearnes, seeking the seat now held by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., was endorsed earlier this week by Missouri Auditor George Lehr.

Hearnes is currently under federal investigation concerning possible wrongdoing during his terms as governor, but has said he is confident he will be cleared of all suspicions.

Shunning gets court case

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Farmer Robert Bear says he last saw his wife in February, but she refused to speak to him.

"I said, 'Good morning,' and took her picture. She did not like that," says Bear, who has been excommunicated from the Reform Mennonite Church and is the subject of a church practice called "shunning," where he is avoided by all church members, including his family.

Bear, 46, also told newsmen Tuesday he tried to see his six children last winter. He went to his in-laws' home in Camp Hill.

"My wife's father met me at the door," the Carlisle farmer said. "He said it made my wife so nervous she took the children away."

Bear, married for 13 years, says he was living an idyllic life on his corn and potato farm with his family when he decided to speak out against Reform Mennonite doctrine that claimed the church is the only pure faith.

He claims his attacks resulted in his excommunication and shunning. His wife moved the couple's children out of their farmhouse.

Bear tried unsuccessfully to sue the church in the local courts. The case was not heard. But on Monday the state Supreme Court, citing that marriage may be governed by the state and not entirely by the church, ordered the Cumberland County Court to hear the case.

"I would think we will follow this until it is finished. I want my wife and children back," Bear says.

Will his wife return if the courts decide shunning is,unconstitutional? Bear's wife has not been available to answer. "She is a victim of her culture ... They believe that if they are excommunicated they are damned to hell. That's what my wife and children believe, that I am damned to hell."

Dexter board okays four new tennis courts

DEXTER — The board of education Tuesday night gave the go ahead on construction of four tennis courts at the junior high school, superintendent Thurston Hill said Wednesday.

L. O. Reutzel Construction Co. of Advance was awarded the contract at a cost of $10,626.

The board set a total tax rate of $4.10 per $100 valuation for the 1975 year. Of that total, $1.70 will go to the teachers' fund $1.25 to the incidental fund, 10 cents to the building fund and $1.05 to retire bonds for the new junior high school.

Hill said the house built by the building trades class sold for $35,000 and that about $3,500 worth of furniture is being purchased for the business education department.

The board Monday also approved the bringing of an exchange student from Brazil to the high school for the coming school year. Hill said this will be the third exchange student to attend the school.

Butz says 5 years long enough

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz says five years in that cabinet post will be long enough.

Butz was interviewed in a television program taped here Wednesday for airing at a later date.

He said he is in office now only because President Ford asked him to remain. Butz was named secretary in December of 1971.

"We had planned to leave this year but the President asked me to remain on this term and I agreed to do so, partly because I am very fond of the fellow. It is fun to work with him. He is a human being in the finest sense of the word."

What is causing low blood sugar

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — We have just found out after a glucose tolerance test of four hours that my wife has or is a hypoglycemic. Her test results were: First hour, 110; second hour, 80; third hour, 36; and fourth hour, 40.

The doctor here is treating her as a diabetic, but with no medication, just an 1800 calorie diet with six meals a day. But she is very tired 90 per cent of the time.

The doctor said this was just the opposite of diabetes. We would appreciate anything you could tell us about this.

DEAR READER — It would be interesting to know why your wife had a glucose tolerance test. Was she actually having symptoms of low blood sugar? When I first tested athletes, I was surprised how many endurance athletes had relatively low blood sugar levels on repeated tests but had no symptoms at all and were in optimal health. These young men were in training for the Olympics. The point here is that the blood glucose level is not always a reliable indicator of how much glucose is getting into the cells and that is what counts.

A diabetic can have relative hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) even when the blood level is quite high, because the level is not high enough for him with his problem of getting glucose into the cell.

In general, it is true that low blood sugar (hypoglycemia) is the opposite of diabetes. There are several different ways low blood sugar can be caused. Some diabetics have episodes of low blood sugar because the islets of Langerhand, where insulin is formed, are not functioning right and release too much insulin at the wrong time. Later the islets get worse and true diabetes develops. So, low blood sugar and diabetes can be part of the same disease problem.

What you mean by treating your wife like a diabetic is also of interest. Most people think that a diabetic should be treated by avoiding carbohydrates. That idea is on the way out. Many diabetic specialists today think that a person with diabetes should restrict the fat intake and use more carbohydrate in the diet. This may help to prevent heart and vascular diease so common in diabetics.

The treatment for low blood sugar depends on what is causing it. For more information about hypoglycemia, write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019, and ask for The Health Letter number 3-9 on Low Blood Sugar. Send a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 50 cents for mailing and costs.

What's the law?

The case of the illusive coffee cup

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Prison means different things to different people. To poor old Barney, it meant not being able to get a decent cup of coffee. Desperate, he finally offered $100 to a delivery man to bring him a jar of instant Maxwell House to the Big House. And, while Barney could practically smell the aroma of the coffee already brewing, a prison guard also smelled something brewing and kept a weathered eye on the delivery man.

The result? The delivery man was caught passing the jar of coffee to Barney and they were both charged with violating a federal law making it a crime to bring "anything" into the prison without the warden's consent.

In court, however, the prosecuting attorney was one very surprised individual. When he opened the jar to introduce its contents into evidence, he found that the jar contained plain old dirt instead of coffee.

"Since he failed to produce the coffee," Barney's attorney quickly pointed out, "there's no proof that Barney conspired to bring 'anything' into the prison."

"While I may not be able to produce the coffee," retorted the prosecuting attorney, "it doesn't prove that Barney's innocent. It only proves that there are a lot of crooks in this prison and that they pulled a switch."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you convict Barney of violating the smuggling law despite the missing coffee?

This is how the Judge ruled: YES! The Judge held that while it could'nt be proven that Barney had conspired to bring coffee into the prison, it could at least be proven that he conspired to bring dirt into the prison. And, concluded the Judge, the federal law prohibits bringing "anything" into the prison without the warden's consent which would include dirt.

Ray Clinton is appointed to couriers post

Ray Clinton of Sikeston has been appointed as a courier for Southwest Baptist College in Bolivar.

Clinton is one of more than 1,500 couriers in churches throughout the midwest, who serve as a bond between the local church and Southwest Baptist College. These couriers assist in guiding young people into Christian education by providing information about the college.

The SWBC Trustees have also made available several scholarships to be awarded through the couriers program. Applications for the scholarships may be obtained from Clinton.

Southwest Baptist College is a four-year liberal arts college with 20 major fields of study and is fully accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The student body numbers approximately 1,300, with more than 550 of these training for church related service. This makes Southwest one of the nation's leading schools in the training for the ministry and other church vocations.

Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare during the Eisenhower administration, was the first Republican woman to hold a cabinet seat.

Butz says 5 years long enough

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz says five years in that cabinet post will be long enough.

Butz was interviewed in a television program taped here Wednesday for airing at a later date.

He said he is in office now only because President Ford asked him to remain. Butz was named secretary in December of 1971.

"We had planned to leave this year but the President asked me to remain on this term and I agreed to do so, partly because I am very fond of the fellow. It is fun to work with him. He is a human being in the finest sense of the word."

Dr. Lamb

What is causing low blood sugar

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — We have just found out after a glucose tolerance test of four hours that my wife has or is a hypoglycemic. Her test results were: First hour, 110; second hour, 80; third hour, 36; and fourth hour, 40.

The doctor here is treating her as a diabetic, but with no medication, just an 1800 calorie diet with six meals a day. But she is very tired 90 per cent of the time.

The doctor said this was just the opposite of diabetes. We would appreciate anything you could tell us about this.

DEAR READER — It would be interesting to know why your wife had a glucose tolerance test. Was she actually having symptoms of low blood sugar? When I first tested athletes, I was surprised how many endurance athletes had relatively low blood sugar levels on repeated tests but had no symptoms at all and were in optimal health. These young men were in training for the Olympics. The point here is that the blood glucose level is not always a reliable indicator of how much glucose is getting into the cells and that is what counts.

A diabetic can have relative hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) even when the blood level is quite high, because the level is not high enough for him with his problem of getting glucose into the cell.

In general, it is true that low blood sugar (hypoglycemia) is the opposite of diabetes. There are several different ways low blood sugar can be caused. Some diabetics have episodes of low blood sugar because the islets of Langerhand, where insulin is formed, are not functioning right and release too much insulin at the wrong time. Later the islets get worse and true diabetes develops. So, low blood sugar and diabetes can be part of the same disease problem.

What you mean by treating your wife like a diabetic is also of interest. Most people think that a diabetic should be treated by avoiding carbohydrates. That idea is on the way out. Many diabetic specialists today think that a person with diabetes should restrict the fat intake and use more carbohydrate in the diet. This may help to prevent heart and vascular diease so common in diabetics.

The treatment for low blood sugar depends on what is causing it. For more information about hypoglycemia, write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019, and ask for The Health Letter number 3-9 on Low Blood Sugar. Send a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 50 cents for mailing and costs.

Today in U.S. History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, July 10, the 191st day of 1975. There are 174 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1850, Vice President Millard Fillmore succeeded to the Presidency on the death of President Zachary Taylor.

On this date —

In 1509, the Protestant reformer, John Calvin, was born in France.

In 1553, Lady Jane Grey was proclaimed Queen of England.

In 1871, one of the great French novelists, Marcel Proust, was born in Paris.

In 1890, Wyoming became the 44th state of the Union.

In 1953, the Soviet chief of internal security, Lavrenti Beria, was purged from the Communist hierarchy in the Soviet Union.

In 1962, the Telstar communications satellite was launched into orbit from Cape Canaveral, Fla., relaying American television to Europe.

Ten years ago: The United States proposed a world conference aimed at improving the 20-year-old international monetary system.

Five years ago: Israel claimed to have shot down three Egyptian planes in fighting along the Suez Canal.

One year ago: Arab oil nations agreed to lift their oil embargo against the Netherlands, imposed nine months earlier as a protest against support for Israel in the Middle East war.

Today's birthdays: Composer Jerry Herman is 42 years old. Writer Saul Bellow is 60.

Thought for today: To go slowly and to live a long time are two brothers — a Dutch proverb.

Today in U.S. History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, July 10, the 191st day of 1975. There are 174 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1850, Vice President Millard Fillmore succeeded to the Presidency on the death of President Zachary Taylor.

On this date —

In 1509, the Protestant reformer, John Calvin, was born in France.

In 1553, Lady Jane Grey was proclaimed Queen of England.

In 1871, one of the great French novelists, Marcel Proust, was born in Paris.

In 1890, Wyoming became the 44th state of the Union.

In 1953, the Soviet chief of internal security, Lavrenti Beria, was purged from the Communist hierarchy in the Soviet Union.

In 1962, the Telstar communications satellite was launched into orbit from Cape Canaveral, Fla., relaying American television to Europe.

Ten years ago: The United States proposed a world conference aimed at improving the 20-year-old international monetary system.

Five years ago: Israel claimed to have shot down three Egyptian planes in fighting along the Suez Canal.

One year ago: Arab oil nations agreed to lift their oil embargo against the Netherlands, imposed nine months earlier as a protest against support for Israel in the Middle East war.

Today's birthdays: Composer Jerry Herman is 42 years old. Writer Saul Bellow is 60.

Thought for today: To go slowly and to live a long time are two brothers — a Dutch proverb.

The WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Remember that net we told you about last year to protect your garden from raiding rabbits and other animals, and to toss over trees to keep hungry birds from your fruit? Well, our friend Ethel Daniels of West Des Moines, Iowa, tells us about a new Gro-Net to help climbing vegetables and fruits.

When vegetables grow upward, they have a better exposure to air and sunlight and chances of disease and ground rot are reduced. Thus you should get larger and better yields.

The net, available at garden centers, has a large mesh so tendrils of plants can climb with sturdy support. The net won't rot since it is made of one-piece extruded plastic, not woven or tied together.

There will be less chance of plants' burning from sun heat, as they might with metal wire. The net is flexible, easy to handle and strong. The netting is excellent for climbing tomatoes, cucumbers, peas, pole beans, among others, and for flowers.

Put two-by-two-inch posts six feet apart to support the net. Stretch the net on the ground, then staple or nail with "U"-shape tacks, allowing a six-inch clearance between the bottom of the net and ground. You could fasten it flush with the ground to keep out marauding animals if you make an enclosure.

Stretch the net between the poles to make sure it is tight. When your plants are 6-8 inches tall, start them on the net. The nets, six feet wide, come in 8, 12 and 18-foot lengths.

Looking Ahead

The seed catalogs are out earlier than usual this year and we recommend your ordering early to assure getting what you want for your garden. So from time to time we'll tell you about new introductions of flowers and vegetables.

Stokes Seeds of Buffalo, N.Y., has two new varieties of vegetable soybean, a green-headed cauliflower, a new golden zucchini, a radish, turnip and three new tomatoes.

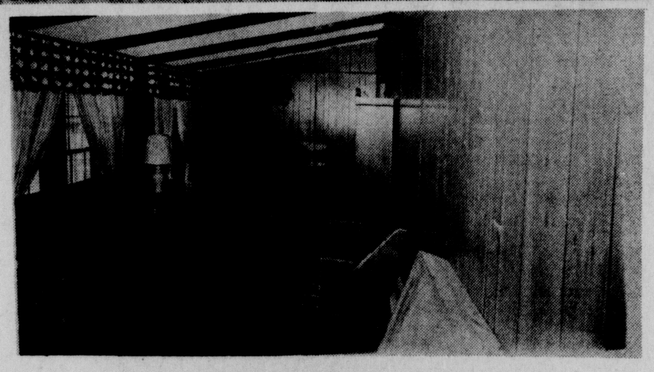
Europeans and Orientals long have considered soybean a tasty, staple vegetable and have developed many good home garden varieties. Northern gardeners will prefer Early Green Bush, an 85-day ripener, over Kanrich, which takes 103 days. You handle soybeans as you do lima beans.

The new cauliflower is Chartreuse, with bright green heads 8½ inches across on tall plants. You don't have to tie outer leaves over the head for sun protection.

Goldzini squash has butter yellow flesh.

Saxa Elite Radish is an early, bright red, round type maturing in 21 days. Alta Sweet Turnip matures in 92 days. Deep yellow and mild flavored, it stores well.

Ultra Girl VFN is a new early staking variety of tomato, 7-9 ounce fruit, resistant to cracking. The VFN means resistant to verticillium, fusarium and nematodes.



The one and Only
home with 6" walls throughout the home.

We have recently found a home built so strong we have to tell you about it. This home has 6" walls and 6" insulation for protection against winter cold and summer heat.
This home has a beautiful, luxurious, living room with Cathederal ceilings and a kitchen with breakfast bar. Master bedroom has full bath. 2 bedrooms have walk-in closets. This home comes with carport to keep you out of the rain and snow. We believe this to be the best constructed home ever built so come in and see it. Don't look for a home with 6" walls anywhere else because you won't find it. Only at.

The WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Remember that net we told you about last year to protect your garden from raiding rabbits and other animals, and to toss over trees to keep hungry birds from your fruit? Well, our friend Ethel Daniels of West Des Moines, Iowa, tells us about a new Gro-Net to help climbing vegetables and fruits.

When vegetables grow upward, they have a better exposure to air and sunlight and chances of disease and ground rot are reduced. Thus you should get larger and better yields.

The net, available at garden centers, has a large mesh so tendrils of plants can climb with sturdy support. The net won't rot since it is made of one-piece extruded plastic, not woven or tied together.

There will be less chance of plants' burning from sun heat, as they might with metal wire. The net is flexible, easy to handle and strong. The netting is excellent for climbing tomatoes, cucumbers, peas, pole beans, among others, and for flowers.

Put two-by-two-inch posts six feet apart to support the net. Stretch the net on the ground, then staple or nail with "U"-shape tacks, allowing a six-inch clearance between the bottom of the net and ground. You could fasten it flush with the ground to keep out marauding animals if you make an enclosure.

Stretch the net between the poles to make sure it is tight. When your plants are 6-8 inches tall, start them on the net. The nets, six feet wide, come in 8, 12 and 18-foot lengths.

Looking Ahead

The seed catalogs are out earlier than usual this year and we recommend your ordering early to assure getting what you want for your garden. So from time to time we'll tell you about new introductions of flowers and vegetables.

Stokes Seeds of Buffalo, N.Y., has two new varieties of vegetable soybean, a green-headed cauliflower, a new golden zucchini, a radish, turnip and three new tomatoes.

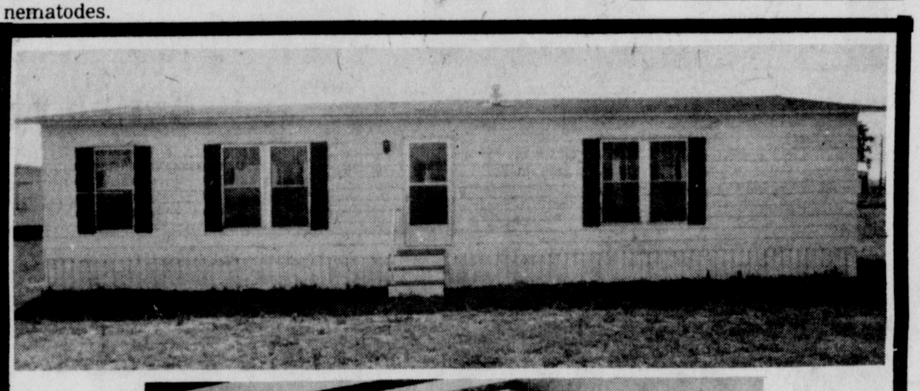
Europeans and Orientals long have considered soybean a tasty, staple vegetable and have developed many good home garden varieties. Northern gardeners will prefer Early Green Bush, an 85-day ripener, over Kanrich, which takes 103 days. You handle soybeans as you do lima beans.

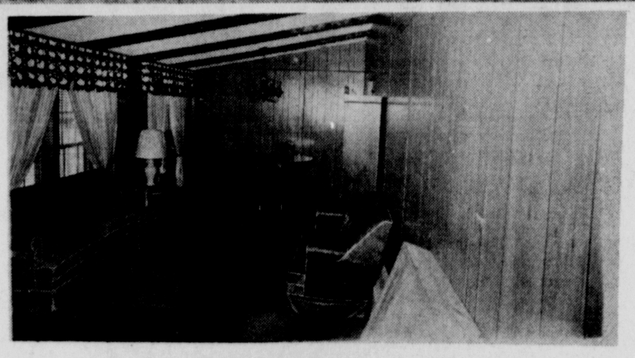
The new cauliflower is Chartreuse, with bright green heads 8½ inches across on tall plants. You don't have to tie outer leaves over the head for sun protection.

Goldzini squash has butter yellow flesh.

Saxa Elite Radish is an early, bright red, round type maturing in 21 days. Alta Sweet Turnip matures in 92 days. Deep yellow and mild flavored, it stores well.

Ultra Girl VFN is a new early staking variety of tomato, 7-9 ounce fruit, resistant to cracking. The VFN means resistant to verticillium, fusarium and nematodes.





The one and Only
home with 6" walls throughout the home.

We have recently found a home built so strong we have to tell you about it. This home has 6" walls and 6" insulation for protection against winter cold and summer heat.
This home has a beautiful, luxurious, living room with Cathederal ceilings and a kitchen with breakfast bar. Master bedroom has full bath. 2 bedrooms have walk-in closets. This home comes with carport to keep you out of the rain and snow. We believe this to be the best constructed home ever built so come in and see it. Don't look for a home with 6" walls anywhere else because you won't find it. Only at.

POPLAR BLUFF — Raymond F. Woolums, 41, of Malden, received minor injuries in a one-car accident at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

The highway patrol said Woolums was southbound on highway 53, 12 miles south of town, and his car struck a bridge abutment and overturned.

He was taken to the Veterans Administration hospital.

Kissinger talking

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger conferred with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing for more than an hour today and reported very good progress had been made toward resuming the dialogue between oil producers and consumers.

Kissinger later flew to Geneva for talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on limiting nuclear weapons and prospects for a Sinai settlement between Egypt and Israel. A senior U.S. official said Kissinger hopes to receive from Gromyko a proposal on the major issues that have delayed negotiations on a 10-year weapons pact.

Kissinger conferred in Paris first with Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues and afterwards went with him to the Elysee Palace for an unscheduled meeting with Giscard d'Estaing.

As he emerged from his talk with the French president, the secretary of state said "we had very constructive talks on the most outstanding issues, in the spirit of friendly cooperation which characterizes our relationship".

A spokesman for Giscard d'Estaing said the president decided to invite Kissinger and Sauvagnargues to his office when the talks between the two ministers showed that the viewpoints of the two governments on the energy dialogue had moved substantially closer.

"The president decided to receive Mr. Kissinger and Mr. Sauvagnargues largely to discuss in detail how the dialogue can be resumed," the spokesman said.

Later in the day he flies to Geneva to discuss the Middle East and nuclear weapons with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

also tries to match job openings with job seekers.

The report, prepared by the National Employers' Committee for the Improvement of the Employment Service, was released by Secretary of Labor John T. Dunlop, who called its findings candid and indicated that many of its recommendations would be adopted.

The committee was chaired by Laurence L. Vickery, director of employment practices for the General Motors Corp. Other members represented other major corporations.

In a 32-page report, the committee called for creation of a nationwide "labor exchange" using the facilities and resources of the employment service which would have the prime responsibility "of placing job-ready applicants of all skill levels in jobs promptly."

3 New Madrid banks get funds

NEW MADRID--State Treasurer James I. Spainhower has announced that three New Madrid County banks will receive $300,000—from the third statewide allocation of general funds under the Missouri Model for the Investment of Inactive State Funds.

Spainhower says the total amount distributed under the allocation this year is $50 million. Every bank in the state was given an equal opportunity to apply for these funds.

Banks receiving deposits from this allocation will pay to the state the current market rate of interest which is 6.4 per cent.

The distribution is based on a formula which returns an amount to each county proportional to the amount paid by that county in state sales and income tax. According to Spainhower, this formula standardizes the requirements which must be met by banks before they can be selected for the deposit of these general funds.

When the amount designated for a county has been determined, the applications from the banks within that county are checked against the requirements of the formula and the amount available for deposit with each bank is established. Spainhower said, "Any bank in the state which reflects a community involvement by maintaining a loan deposit ratio of at least 50 per cent will receive its share of the money, providing it chooses to accept the deposit at the maximum rate of interest allowed by law."

The $50 million for this allocation reflects Spainhower's policy of keeping the state's money within Missouri whenever possible. "This is being done," Spainhower explained, "to make more money available for the state's local economies in the hope that the funds will generate local growth and financial stability."

The following $100,000 deposits have been available for the banks of New Madrid County: Peoples Bank of Lilbourn, Tri-County Bank of Morehouse and Bank of New Madrid.

Presidential plan for gasoline tax is criticized by council

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's Transportation and Development Council, Inc., has criticized the presidential proposal to alter the distribution of the federal gasoline tax.

In a statement Wednesday, Richard L. Rice, council vice president, contended Missouri can only suffer if the plan proposed Monday by President Ford is adopted by Congress.

"This is one trial balloon which should be popped before it ever gets off the ground," Rice said.

Federal taxes on gasoline now go directly int the Federal Highway Trust Fund and then are dispensed to states for road work, mass transit and other projects.

But under the Ford proposal, one cent of the tax on each gallon would go to the trust fund, two cents to the federal government's general revenue fund and the final one cent of the tax would be repealed once the states raise their own gasoline tax by a penny.

The plan is aimed at giving the states an opportunity to receive a greater share of revenue directly.

Fire Department assisting.

Dale Lawrence, who lives near the plant, said he saw smoke early this morning while he was still in bed, after an explosion woke him up.

Lawrence called the police department to report the fire. He said that by the time the fire department arrived, flames were shooting high out of the top of the building.

Johnson said an investigation will be made soon.

After the fire, plant employes attempted a cleanup of some of the rubble among the still smoldering ruins.

No injuries were reported.

A vamp has come to mean a seductive or aggressive woman who entices men. The term derives from vampire. In the 1914 movie "A Fool There Was", Theda Bara played a vampire immortalizing the "vamp" mannerisms, dress and speech.

Utilities begin layoffs

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The first of about 50 employes in Missouri Utilities Co. Southeast and Central Divisions' outside work forces will be laid off Friday as previously announced by the company.

Other employes on the layoff list will leave their jobs July 18.

Clyde Wilson, vice president of operations, said that approximately seven employes in the natural gas and water departments of the Southeast Division serving Cape Girardeau and some other cities in the Bootheel will be out of work as of Friday.

Those to be laid off July 18 will number about 35 in the Southeast Division's electrical department, he said. Part of those laid off will be linemen, but there also will be some reshuffling of jobs because of seniority provisions of the contract between the company and the union, Local 702, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Through the provisions, a lineman being laid off could "bump" a meter reader for the latter's job because of seniority, he said.

"We have no plans for any further layoffs (after July 18) and hope we don't have to draft any plans for further layoffs," Wilson said. However, he added, future plans depend upon the economy and the company's financial picture.

The layoffs carry no promises of recall although provisions of the union contract providing for rehiring of these employes in any upturn of the business cycle would be honored, he said. Any improvement in the economy "could generate some recall" of laid-off employes, he said.

Wilson said there have been a few direct layoffs of office help and some transferring and reshuffling of nonunion supervisory and management personnel, particularly in the Central Division.

The company has studied the entire operation, Wilson said, and found that if any type of work or business is underway, a certain number of employes are needed in the accounting and other office departments. "At this time there is no way to cut off more of these employes," he said.

In January, both the union and the company announced that employes had been notified of the company's plans to lay off a number of workers, then expected to be effective between June 1-15.

At that time, the company cited as cause for its decision "recessionary economic factors, coupled with conservation." This, in turn reduced the rate of growth and demand for the company's services and dictated a reduction planned construction of new facilities in the immediate foreseeable future, company officials said.

Also, they said, contributing to the decision were "inflationry effects on labor and construction-materials," and the "present high rate of interest on borrowed capital."

Pending before the Missouri Public Service Commission in Jefferson City are requests of Missouri Utilities Co. for increases in gross annual revenues of $5,267,227 from electric service in its Southeast Division, $885,431 from gas service in its Central Division, $480,664 from gas service in its Southeast Division, and $185,000 from water service to Cape Girardeau customers.

Increases for customers here would be on the following basis: Electric, 39 per cent; gas, 12.5 per cent, and water, 19 per cent.

Cross-examination of witnesses for the company, the PSC staff, the Public Counsel of the Department of Consumer Affairs, Regulation and Licensing and intervenors in the case will begin in Jefferson City Sept. 15. A pre-hearing conference will be held Sept. 10.

Increases being asked by the company would include rate hikes of about $1.4 million in electric, 39 per cent; gas, 12.5 gas revenues in the Southeast Division, and $260,000 in gas revenues in the Central division that were allowed by the commission to go into effect on June 23, the PSC said.

A hearing will be held in Cape Girardeau Aug. 25 in the Community Room at Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Building, 2027 Broadway, to allow customers of Missouri Utilities to testify in regard to the company's request for increases in electric, gas and water rates.

Kissinger talking

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger conferred with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing for more than an hour today and reported very good progress had been made toward resuming the dialogue between oil producers and consumers.

Kissinger later flew to Geneva for talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on limiting nuclear weapons and prospects for a Sinai settlement between Egypt and Israel. A senior U.S. official said Kissinger hopes to receive from Gromyko a proposal on the major issues that have delayed negotiations on a 10-year weapons pact.

Kissinger conferred in Paris first with Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues and afterwards went with him to the Elysee Palace for an unscheduled meeting with Giscard d'Estaing.

As he emerged from his talk with the French president, the secretary of state said "we had very constructive talks on the most outstanding issues, in the spirit of friendly cooperation which characterizes our relationship".

A spokesman for Giscard d'Estaing said the president decided to invite Kissinger and Sauvagnargues to his office when the talks between the two ministers showed that the viewpoints of the two governments on the energy dialogue had moved substantially closer.

"The president decided to receive Mr. Kissinger and Mr. Sauvagnargues largely to discuss in detail how the dialogue can be resumed," the spokesman said.

Later in the day he flies to Geneva to discuss the Middle East and nuclear weapons with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

also tries to match job openings with job seekers.

The report, prepared by the National Employers' Committee for the Improvement of the Employment Service, was released by Secretary of Labor John T. Dunlop, who called its findings candid and indicated that many of its recommendations would be adopted.

The committee was chaired by Laurence L. Vickery, director of employment practices for the General Motors Corp. Other members represented other major corporations.

In a 32-page report, the committee called for creation of a nationwide "labor exchange" using the facilities and resources of the employment service which would have the prime responsibility "of placing job-ready applicants of all skill levels in jobs promptly."

Burlison also announced the members of this year's Tenth District Academy Advisory Committee. They are: Charles Blanton III of Sikeston; Don Gillihan of Farmington; Robert Dodson of Crystal City; Don Bedell of Poplar Bluff; and Don Wall of Kennett.

The Congressman explained that the Advisory Committee meets annually at the end of each year to interview candidates for nomination to the service academies, recommending to him those applicants they feel are best qualified.

3 New Madrid banks get funds

NEW MADRID--State Treasurer James I. Spainhower has announced that three New Madrid County banks will receive $300,000—from the third statewide allocation of general funds under the Missouri Model for the Investment of Inactive State Funds.

Spainhower says the total amount distributed under the allocation this year is $50 million. Every bank in the state was given an equal opportunity to apply for these funds.

Banks receiving deposits from this allocation will pay to the state the current market rate of interest which is 6.4 per cent.

The distribution is based on a formula which returns an amount to each county proportional to the amount paid by that county in state sales and income tax. According to Spainhower, this formula standardizes the requirements which must be met by banks before they can be selected for the deposit of these general funds.

When the amount designated for a county has been determined, the applications from the banks within that county are checked against the requirements of the formula and the amount available for deposit with each bank is established. Spainhower said, "Any bank in the state which reflects a community involvement by maintaining a loan deposit ratio of at least 50 per cent will receive its share of the money, providing it chooses to accept the deposit at the maximum rate of interest allowed by law."

The $50 million for this allocation reflects Spainhower's policy of keeping the state's money within Missouri whenever possible. "This is being done," Spainhower explained, "to make more money available for the state's local economies in the hope that the funds will generate local growth and financial stability."

The following $100,000 deposits have been available for the banks of New Madrid County: Peoples Bank of Lilbourn, Tri-County Bank of Morehouse and Bank of New Madrid.

Presidential plan for gasoline tax is criticized by council

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's Transportation and Development Council, Inc., has criticized the presidential proposal to alter the distribution of the federal gasoline tax.

In a statement Wednesday, Richard L. Rice, council vice president, contended Missouri can only suffer if the plan proposed Monday by President Ford is adopted by Congress.

"This is one trial balloon which should be popped before it ever gets off the ground," Rice said.

Federal taxes on gasoline now go directly int the Federal Highway Trust Fund and then are dispensed to states for road work, mass transit and other projects.

But under the Ford proposal, one cent of the tax on each gallon would go to the trust fund, two cents to the federal government's general revenue fund and the final one cent of the tax would be repealed once the states raise their own gasoline tax by a penny.

The plan is aimed at giving the states an opportunity to receive a greater share of revenue directly.

Fire Department assisting.

Dale Lawrence, who lives near the plant, said he saw smoke early this morning while he was still in bed, after an explosion woke him up.

Lawrence called the police department to report the fire. He said that by the time the fire department arrived, flames were shooting high out of the top of the building.

Johnson said an investigation will be made soon.

After the fire, plant employes attempted a cleanup of some of the rubble among the still smoldering ruins.

No injuries were reported.

A vamp has come to mean a seductive or aggressive woman who entices men. The term derives from vampire. In the 1914 movie "A Fool There Was", Theda Bara played a vampire immortalizing the "vamp" mannerisms, dress and speech.

Utilities begin layoffs

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The first of about 50 employes in Missouri Utilities Co. Southeast and Central Divisions' outside work forces will be laid off Friday as previously announced by the company.

Other employes on the layoff list will leave their jobs July 18.

Clyde Wilson, vice president of operations, said that approximately seven employes in the natural gas and water departments of the Southeast Division serving Cape Girardeau and some other cities in the Bootheel will be out of work as of Friday.

Those to be laid off July 18 will number about 35 in the Southeast Division's electrical department, he said. Part of those laid off will be linemen, but there also will be some reshuffling of jobs because of seniority provisions of the contract between the company and the union, Local 702, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Through the provisions, a lineman being laid off could "bump" a meter reader for the latter's job because of seniority, he said.

"We have no plans for any further layoffs (after July 18) and hope we don't have to draft any plans for further layoffs," Wilson said. However, he added, future plans depend upon the economy and the company's financial picture.

The layoffs carry no promises of recall although provisions of the union contract providing for rehiring of these employes in any upturn of the business cycle would be honored, he said. Any improvement in the economy "could generate some recall" of laid-off employes, he said.

Wilson said there have been a few direct layoffs of office help and some transferring and reshuffling of nonunion supervisory and management personnel, particularly in the Central Division.

The company has studied the entire operation, Wilson said, and found that if any type of work or business is underway, a certain number of employes are needed in the accounting and other office departments. "At this time there is no way to cut off more of these employes," he said.

In January, both the union and the company announced that employes had been notified of the company's plans to lay off a number of workers, then expected to be effective between June 1-15.

At that time, the company cited as cause for its decision "recessionary economic factors, coupled with conservation." This, in turn reduced the rate of growth and demand for the company's services and dictated a reduction planned construction of new facilities in the immediate foreseeable future, company officials said.

Also, they said, contributing to the decision were "inflationry effects on labor and construction-materials," and the "present high rate of interest on borrowed capital."

Pending before the Missouri Public Service Commission in Jefferson City are requests of Missouri Utilities Co. for increases in gross annual revenues of $5,267,227 from electric service in its Southeast Division, $885,431 from gas service in its Central Division, $480,664 from gas service in its Southeast Division, and $185,000 from water service to Cape Girardeau customers.

Increases for customers here would be on the following basis: Electric, 39 per cent; gas, 12.5 per cent, and water, 19 per cent.

Cross-examination of witnesses for the company, the PSC staff, the Public Counsel of the Department of Consumer Affairs, Regulation and Licensing and intervenors in the case will begin in Jefferson City Sept. 15. A pre-hearing conference will be held Sept. 10.

Increases being asked by the company would include rate hikes of about $1.4 million in electric, 39 per cent; gas, 12.5 gas revenues in the Southeast Division, and $260,000 in gas revenues in the Central division that were allowed by the commission to go into effect on June 23, the PSC said.

A hearing will be held in Cape Girardeau Aug. 25 in the Community Room at Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Building, 2027 Broadway, to allow customers of Missouri Utilities to testify in regard to the company's request for increases in electric, gas and water rates.
